HOWE BOLTS REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Taft Leader Leaves Stormy Meeting and Holds Caucus During Recess.

CHOOSES 2 DELEGATES

Seats of Majority Representatives to National Gathering to Be Contested.

SESSION IS TURBULENT

Patrolmen Are Called Into Aisles to Keep Politicians From Fighting.

While the Niedringhaus-Essen majority faction of the Tenth District Republicans was taking a noon recess at the district convention Monday, the Howe-Stifel-Johnston minority delegates held a "rump" convention at Cherokee Garden. They elected Rowland L. Johnston of St. Louis County and Ed Koeln of Carondelet delegates to the National Convention at Chicago.

They also indorsed Taft, instructed their delegates for him and for Charles Nagel for National Committeeman, and named Dr. S. J. Will of St. Louis County and W. B. Rutledge of the Twenty-fourth Ward as alternates.

Otto Stifel acted as chairman of the "rump" convention, and Leon Scherrer Jr. as secretary. They rushed proceedings.

Unseat the Opposition.

They went through the formality of unseating all the Niedringhaus-Essen delegates elected Saturday, who constituted a majority of those sitting in the original convention. The Niedringhaus delegates numbered 66, the Howe men 46.

The delegates elected by the Howe men will go to Chicago and contest the seats of the two delegates elected by the Niedringhaus majority.

The program of the majority was to elect Fred Essen and Louis Alt as uninstructed delegates to Chicago.

Howe's partisans based their bolt on the charge of unfair parliamentary rulings by State Senator Gardner, chairman of the convention, and on the allegation that the Eighth, Ninth, Twelfth and Twenty-eighth wards were carried for the Niedringhaus delegates by the use of "Indians" in Saturday's primaries.

The trouble started after the installation of Gardner as chairman and Louis Groffmann as secretary, with the chair's ruling on a motion made by Rowland L. Johnston, the Howe leader in St. Louis County.

He moved that each township in the county have a representative on each of the committees, and that no member of a contested delegation be placed on the Credentials Committee.

Rules Without Counting Votes.

The Essen-Niedringhaus program was that the county should have three representatives on each committee, not selected by townships, and the chair declared this motion carried over Johnston's, without counting the votes. This caused indignant howls from the minority.

The Howe men demanded to know why Capt. Hanna and 12 policemen, one for every nine delegates, had been summoned to the hall, and declared that the Niedringhaus men were trying to put their program through by force.

The attempt of two delegates, one from the Nineteenth Ward, the other from the Twenty-eighth, to "get at" each other, called the police into the aisle. The excitement was increased by the arguments which Charles Kratz and John Bardol, Niedringhaus delegates, hurled at the minority.

Police court dockets Monday bore the names of several of the most active workers in Saturday's primaries. John H. Becker, a well-known South Side politician; William H. Lohman, Fred Sebastian and Arthur Rooney were before Judge Tracy because of the disturbance at the polling place at 2207 South Seventh street.

The four men who, just after quitting the company of Delegate Priesmeyer, attacked and severely beat C. J. McLean of 4124 North Newstead avenue have not been apprehended. McLean was attacked because, in the Post-Dispatch postal card poll, he declared that Priesmeyer should be suspended from the House because of the bribery charge against him.

GASOLINE POURED ON FIRE BY MISTAKE BURNS WOMAN

Mrs. Fred Lehr was severely burned Monday in the basement of her home, 422 East Seventh street, Belleville, when she poured gasoline on a smouldering fire, mistaking the liquid for coal oil.

The gasoline exploded, and a burst of flame enveloped Mrs. Lehr, burning her clothing.

She was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where physicians said she could not recover. She is 40 years old.

PRESIDENT'S WIFE OPPOSES A THIRD TERM FOR HIM

Mrs. Roosevelt Tells Friend Official Social Duties Are Too Irksome for Her.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Mrs. Roosevelt is unalterably opposed to a third term for her husband, the President. She has said as much to a close friend of the Carew family within the past few days.

She gives as her reason that, after seven years of it, she is tired of the stiff and formal official social round imposed upon her as the first lady of the land; that she is tired of Washington society, and that she wants to see her husband in a private capacity.

She wishes him to have time to get acquainted with his family.

PASSENGER STEAMER ASHORE ON COAST NEAR NEW YORK

Wireless Message Does Not State Exact Location of Steamship Coamo.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The New York and Porto Rico Steamship Co. received a wireless message today announcing that its passenger steamer Coamo is ashore somewhere on the coast in the vicinity of New York, but the message did not disclose the exact location.

The Coamo was bound from San Juan, Porto Rico, to New York.

WOMAN IS SHOT WITH BROTHER'S SAFETY PISTOL

WEAPON IN HOLSTER

Had Been Left So It Could Not Explode—Cannot Explain Accident.

Mrs. Mamie Wetzel, 3346 Laclede avenue, was accidentally shot in the left leg and seriously wounded Monday afternoon at the home of her brother, Detective Michael Callahan, 1626 Knapp street.

The weapon was her brother's revolver which had a safety device and was in a holster. The bullet struck her above the knee, shattering the bone.

Mrs. Wetzel visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. Callahan, and went with her into the bedroom to look at a new sanitary mattress.

Under the mattress was the large revolver which Callahan carries on night duty.

Before placing it there he had set the trigger over an empty cylinder chamber, so that it could not be accidentally discharged. For this reason he is unable to explain the accident.

Mrs. Wetzel screamed and fell. Her sister-in-law helped her to a bed and telephoned to Callahan, who had his sister removed to St. John's Hospital.

There it was found that the leg was fractured and the bone so badly splintered blood poisoning is feared.

Dr. F. C. Simon extracted the bullet. Mrs. Witzel is 34 years old and has two children.

GOULD SYSTEM LAYS OFF 10,000 OF ITS WORKERS

Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain Shops Here Are Closed as Well.

FORCED TO RETRENCH

Many Employes Are Forced to Be Idle Part Time Without Pay.

All the St. Louis shops of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain lines except the roundhouses, necessary for the actual maintenance of traffic, were closed Monday, throwing thousands out of employment in addition to more than 10,000 employes in the operating and clerical departments, discharged Sunday to offset heavy losses in revenue the officials say the road has undergone.

Assistant General Manager McPherson refused Monday to estimate the number of men thrown out of work. General Manager Sullivan, in announcing the closing down of the shops, said they were to be suspended until the road got into better shape financially.

The pay checks for the St. Louis employes were not given out Monday.

Men Laid Off Monthly.

Although freight and passenger earnings are beginning to show gradual improvement over recent traffic records, all the Gould lines in St. Louis, including the Cotton Belt, are cutting down expenses by dismissing men or by forcing them to take five-day layoffs each month without pay.

The layoff system saves the railroad 16 2-5 per cent on salaries.

Notices posted in Missouri Pacific passenger depots Monday announced that the commercial offices of the company in Sedalia, Boston, Mass.; Cairo, Ill.; Birmingham, Ala., and New Orleans, La., have been closed indefinitely.

Press telegrams to the Post-Dispatch from Sedalia say the Missouri Pacific management has ordered a 33 per cent cut in the salaries of all employes now on duty there.

It is stated that for the first time in the history of the road all of the shop foremen have been laid off.

In addition to these economies, the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain management has closed the stations at Vineland, Silica, Cadet, Mo., and other places throughout Missouri, Arkansas and Kansas.

"Cotton Belt" Affected.

The St. Louis Southwestern Railroad Co., known as the "Cotton Belt" system, in which the Goulds are heavily interested, has dismissed 1500 men. Almost a clean sweep has been made of the force employed in the auditor's departments.

The operating officials of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Co. are in conference at Springfied, Mo., today to reduce the operating expenses of the system until the crops begin to move next fall.

Work has been suspended on the $1,000,000 car and locomotive works which the Frisco began building at Springfield last fall.

It is understood that the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific and the Frisco will reduce their operating and clerical force about 20 per cent before April.

"Katy" Cuts Expenses.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad Co. has put into effect many economies which, according to one of its officials, has cut down operating expenses about $75,000 a month.

As yet few clerks in the St. Louis offices have been disturbed, although the company's shops in Missouri, closed recently will not be reopened for some time.

The "Katy" system showed an increase of $13,000 in net earnings for January, 1908, as compared with the preceding year, a most hopeful sign, its traffic officials say.

The Louisville & Nashville, Mobile & Ohio, Southern Railway and other roads operating to the South out of St. Louis have made a 10 per cent cut in the wages of all employes not identified with the union labor organizations.

The Wabash system, with which the Goulds are prominently connected, has laid off a number of trainmen and closed down its repair shops.

The Chicago & Alton management announced Monday that its 100 passenger train collectors will hereafter be dispensed with in the interest of economy, and conductors will take charge of ticket collecting. The ticket collector received $75 a month.

A high official of one of the leading Missouri lines said that the roads terminating in St. Louis have economized to the total extent of $1,500,000 a month.

With the enforcement, beginning Wednesday of the nine-hour telegraphers' law, requiring railroads to employ practically three shifts of operators, railroad officials declare that many stations throughout Missouri will have to be abandoned. Some of the roads are installing telephone service for the operation of their trains.

Bishop Duncan Dead.

CHIEF OF POLICE GEORGE SHIPPY.

STORY OF THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION BY CHIEF

By GEORGE H. SHIPPY.

I had a premonition of this, and the attack on me came as no surprise. Therefore, I have been on guard.

My premonition that I was the object of an assassination plot was verified this morning. The first I knew was the ring at the doorbell at 9 o'clock. It might have been a few minutes earlier or it might have been a minute or two later. I answered in person and saw standing there a man who was evidently an Armenian. He was about 26 years old. He said:

"If Chief Shippy is in, I have an important letter for him." With that he took out of his pocket an envelope addressed to George M. Shippy, Superintendent of Police, City Hall, Chicago, or residence, 31 Lincoln place.

I looked at the man, and instead of taking the letter, I grasped his arm. With that he struggled.

Wife to the Rescue.

My wife, who had been attracted by the noise of the struggle, started downstairs. I held the man and called to her: "That man has a gun in his pocket."

My wife ran down, and while I held him, she placed her hand in his right overcoat pocket, and got hold of a gun. She said: "Yes, George, he has."

I said: "For God's sake, hold it."

I then grappled with him and threw him over the telephone stand in the hall entrance. He released his hand from my grasp, and while my wife still held the gun, he pulled a knife from inside of hisovercoat , a knife, such as I never saw before.

It had a blade 12 to 14 inches long. He cut across my right ar many got me. Then I fired at him. Then Foley fired.

About this time, my boy, Harry, started downstairs after his mother. He cried, "Papa, I will help you."

Then I heard a shot entirely different from those of my gun or Foley's gun. I saw my wife was not able to keep up the struggle. The assassin had wrenched the gun away from her. Then, as my boy grappled with him, he shot Harry just above the heart. I saw Harry fall to the stairs and as he did so he cried, "Papa, I'm shot and can't help you any more."

Chief Shoots to Kill.

"Then I shot to kill. I had only shot to disable before, but when my boy cried that he had been shot, I shot to kill. I put one bullet through that fellow's head and another through his heart.

Afterward I found out the fellow had fired a shot earlier than the one that had hit my boy. The second shot fired by him hit Foley.

This was the third visit made to my house by this fellow.

Sunday morning he called after I had left for the City Hall.

Harry let this fellow in then. The man said he wanted to see the Chief, and Harry answered: "My father has gone to work."

He came again this morning at 9 o'clock. The maid, Therse Lauter, informed him that he could not see me until 9 o'clock.

The man declared that he had an important letter to deliver, but she would not let him in, telling him he would have to call later.

He returned at the hour she had suggested and the shooting followed.

Family Coachman Also Shot and Seriously Wounded as He Tries to Aid Shippy, Attacked in Chicago Home by Unidentified Italian.

PLOT TO KILL SEVERAL CITY OFFICIALS SUSPECTED

Attacked While Reading Letter Brought by Mysterious Caller, Chief Kills Him With Five Bullets After Desperate Struggle—Son's Wounds, It Is Feared, Will Prove Fatal—Police Begin Round-Up of Anarchists.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Identifications of the man who attempted to kill Chief Shippy as a member of a group of anarchists which have been holding regular meetings in the Ghetto district in the West Side o fthe city, was obtained late today by two detectives. A friend of the police who attends the meetings the meetings in order to gather information recognized the body. He told the authorities that the man had been selected by lot and told to kill Chief Shippy and Mayor Busse.

CHICAGO, March 2.—George M. Shippy, chief of the Chicago Police Department, today shot and killed an anarchist who invaded his home. The anarchist stabbed the chief, shot the official's son, Harry in the lung, and severely wounded the family coachman, James Foley.

Harry is seriously hurt but Foley probably will recover. The Chief was stabbed in the hand. His wound is trivial.

The assailant entered Shippy's home while the Chief and his son were alone in one of the rooms. The man is said to have handed Chief Shippy a letter which the Chief opened and began to read. Immediately the anarchist drew a revolver and fired at Harry Shippy. The boy fell to the floor and his father grappled with the assailant.

Foley, attracted by the shooting, rushed to his employer's aid. As the servant entered the room the anarchist broke from the Chief's grasp, aimed deliberately and shot Foley twice.

CHIEF SHOOTS ANARCHIST TO DEATH.

Again the Chief closed with the man and the latter turned on him with a knife. Shippy attempted to grasp the weapon and received a deep cut on the hand. The police official then succeeded in reaching his own revolver and he poured shot after shot into the man's body. Every bullet took effect and the Anarchist fell to the floor dead.

The Chief, his son and Foley were hurried to the Augustana Hospital, where all received treatment. It is believed the Chief is not badly hutr and that Foley will live. Little hope is entertained for Harry Shippy.

Mayor Busse was notified of the shooting at the residence of Chief Shippy and immediately left his office and went to the Shippy home, accompanied by his body guard, Sergt. Michael Loftus.

An importunate office seeker who encountered Mayor Busse shortly after the latter's return from the Shippy home caused a commotion in the City Hall, and the occurrence gave rise to a rumor that a wholesale plot had been made against city officials, but this was at once denied by the police.

Policemen were detailed at all entrances to the City Hall and no one was allowed to enter the building unless they satisfied the patrolmen on guard that their mission was strictly business. At the door leading to the Chief's private chamber detectives were detailed with instructions to allow nobody to enter.

ALL AVAILABLE DETECTIVES AT WORK.

News of the shooting in Chief Shippy's home reached the Police Department when a request was sent to a near-by station for an ambulance. Every available detective in the city was placed upon the case.

It is believed the Anarchist rode up to the Shippy home in an automobile and that he was accompanied by another man, who remained in the vehicle while the shooting was in progress. The detectives are searching for this second man.

Harry Shippy, the Chief's only son, is 22 years old. He is a student at the Culver Military School. He returned home a few days ago to be treated for an ear trouble and was under a specialist's care.

Detectives were sent to view the body of the dead anarchist in the belief that he may be Frank Muski, arrested Saturday in a roundup of suspicious Italians. He was found to be heavily armed, and was fined $25. He paid it and left, vowing vengeance.

DEAD MAN'S IDENTITY PUZZLES POLICE.

Hermann Schuettler, Assistant Chief of Police, who has had charge of the crusade against anarchy in Chicago, was unable to identify the man. He described him as an Italian or Slav, about 24 years old, weighing 140 pounds and about 5 feet 6 inches tall. On the shoes and underwear was the number "399." The man wore a dark suit of clothes and a new hat purchased from a local firm.

The only thing that may lead to the man's identification is a small sack of lozenges, bearing a Meadville, Pa., name. It is believed the dead man came from there. Several street car transfers were found in his pockets, showing that he had been in Chicago at least several weeks. The initials "D. A." were found on a portion of the man's underwear.

It is announced that Chief Shippy received two letters Sunday warning him that attempts would be made to kill him. He said he has known for some time that he was a marked man and has been unusually careful.

Coroner's Physician Lewke, who made an examination of the dead man,

BOYS TRACKED IN SNOW AFTER ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO WRECK FAST TRAIN

Brothers Arrested on Charge of Driving Nails Between Rails to Derail Passenger.

QUINCY, Ill., March 2.—Fred and Frank Lahman of Loraine, 10 and 15 years old respectively, were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Poling on a charge of placing an obstruction on a railroad track to wreck a train.

It is alleged that on Jan. 20 they put 20 large spikes between the ends of two rails, wedged in such a manner that they would in all probability have wrecked a fast passenger train which was due but a few minutes from the time the spikes were discovered.

George Zimmermaker saw the boys running away and discovered the obstruction which was a short distance above the depot at Loraine. He removed the spikes and reported the matter.

There was snow on the ground and the boys were tracked to their place of concealment. Fred, the younger boy, is sick and could not be brought to Quincy at this time, but Frank was brought here and the preliminary hearing was continued to March 9. The boy's father, Frank Lahman, signed Frank's bond.

ROOSEVELT SAYS WILFLEY CHARGES ARE UNFOUNDED

President Informs House Committee and Secretary Root Judge Is Innocent.

BIG STICK BRANDISHED

Persons Who Instigated Investigations Are Vigorously Denounced by the President.

Judge Lebbeus R. Wilfley of St. Louis was declared by President Roosevelt Monday to be innocent of the charges made against his official conduct as Judge of the United States Court at Shanghai, China. The President's declaration was made, according to Washington dispatches, in a communication to the House Judiciary Committee, which has been hearing charges against Judge Wilfley as part of a proposed impeachment proceeding.

The President sent to the House Committee a report from Secretary of State Root, with whom the original charges were filed. The charges were improper discrimination against certain lawyers, who were disbarred by Judge Wilfley, and that he had failed to suppress a lottery.

Secretary Root's report was that the charges were "fine drawn and without substance," and were due to the Judge's action in ridding the American colony in Shanghai of "undesirables" who thrived on vicious busines practices and discredited the American name.

President Writes to Root.

With this report, the President incloses his letter to Secretary Root, which is as follows:

"I have received and read your report of Feb. 29 on the charges submitted by Lorrin Andrews under date of Nov. 19, 1907, against Judge Wilfley; it appearing from your report that Congressman Waldo (of New York) stands sponsor for these charges.

"I cordially concur in your finding, which is to the effect that Judge Wilfley is not only innocent, but is attacked solely because of the fearlessness and integrity with which he has stamped out vice and crime in Shanghai.

"I enclose you a letter from Robert E. Lewis, secretary of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, who has just returned from Shanghai, where he has resided for 10 years as foreign secretary of that body.

"This letter is in line with the quotations contained in your report, and the statements therein made in reference to the character and conduct of Judge Wilfley and his accusers are borne out by the statements of every reputable man, whether business man, missionary, Government agent or representative of a philanthropic or a religious body who has written to me.

Attacked for Doing Good.

"It is clear Judge Wilfley has been attacked, not because he has done evil, but because he has done good. The assault on him is simply an impeachment of decency and zeal for the public good, and, if successful, would tend to cow and discourage every honest public servant who dares to withstand the forces banded together for evil, and would do grave damage to the honor and interest of our country in the Orient.

If the attack were to succeed, the beneficiaries would be every keeper of a resort, every swindling lawyer, every man who lives by blackmail and corruption in the cities of the far East.

"These are the people whose hopes have been revived by the effort to overthrow this upright and fearless Judge who has already done so much for the good name of America in China.

"It is not too much to say that this assault on Judge Wilfley, in the interest of vicious and criminal classes, is a public scandal.

"I cordially approve your conclusions. Sincerely yours.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

SCARLET FEVER SERUM HAS BEEN EXPERIMENTED WITH BY ST. LOUIS DOCTORS

Local Physicians Say Antistrepicoccia Is Sometimes Effective and Sometimes Not.

Antistreptococcic serum, believed by certain New York physicians to be a positive cure for scarlet fever, according to Monday's press dispatches, has been used with varying success by St. Louis physicians. It is administered by hypodermic injections, not only in scarlet fever, but in erysipelas and other diseases of adults.

Dr. George M. Tuttle, a specialist in children's diseases, said Monday to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"The use of antistreptococcic serum sometimes proves very effective, but it cannot be said to be a specific, as is anti-toxin in diphtheria. Its results are not certain, and the physician employing it is only experimenting, without being sure that it will do any good.

"Before a serum which will be a positive remedy can be found the germ of scarlet fever must be found, and this has not yet been done."

New York dispatches state that the serum is being used in combating an epidemic of scarlet fever on the lower East Side. Dr. H. U. Robinson has employed the treatment in more than a score of cases, with almost uniform success.

City Bacteriologist Harris said: "This serum was given a thorough trial in Chicago a year and a half ago in 100 scarlet fever cases, and the results were a disappointment to its advocates. It was never positively demonstrated that it had any effect, some patients getting well and some dying, in about the same proportion as they would without it."

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

A WIDOW NOT MERRY WHEN COTTON BROKER ELOPES

Adam Wiest's Departure Preceded by Woman's Visits to Home of Fiancee and Succeeded By Questioning of His Mother.

Mrs. Adam Wiest of 5953 Cates avenue believes that when her son, Adam Wiest Jr., a cotton broker, eloped with Miss Virginia Eliza Yates, his act caused great disappointment to a pretty South St. Louis widow to whom he had been attentive before he met Miss Yates.

The hurried marriage followed the sudden and unexplained appearance of the widow at the home of Miss Yates, 1612A Semple avenue. Accompanied by a woman who said she was her sister, the widow visited the Yates home and asked about a flat which was for rent.

She greatly surprised Miss Yates by asking her if she knew Mrs. Wiest and questioning her about him.

Learns of Her Rival.

Not until after the widow had departed did Miss Yates learn who she was. She was told by Mr. Wiest's mother that the young man had formerly been attentive to the widow and had taken her to the Wiest home several times, but that they had not met for six months, so far as Mrs. Wiest knew.

Last Monday, two days after the widow's visit to the Yates home, Miss Yates was at a telephone in a drug store at Semple and Easton avenues attempting to call Mr. Wiest. When she held the receiver to her ear she heard the voice of another woman, who was also calling Mr. Wiest's telephone number.

"Get off the line," said Miss Yates, and the other voice subsided. After finishing her telephone conversation with Mr. Wiest, Miss Yates left the drug store. At the same instant the widow stepped from a butcher shop across the street. It was five miles from the widow's home and Miss Yates felt sure that the other voice on the wire was the widow's.

Twenty-four hours later Miss Yates and Mr. Wiest eloped. Accompanied by Miss Edith Brooks and H. B. Wandell Jr., the bridegroom's cousin, they went to the residence of the Rev. E. B. Randle, pastor of the Maple Avenue Methodist Church, where the knot was tied. From there they went to the Wiest home and were forgiven.

Widow Asks Questions.

The next day the widow called up Mr. Wiest's mother on the telephone.

"I suppose you heard about your son getting married?" she said.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Wiest.

"Are you pleased?" asked the widow.

"Indeed, I am," said Mrs. Wiest.

At that, the telephone receiver at the other end of the line was hung up.

Couple on Honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiest are on their way to Mexico on their honeymoon.

The bridegroom's mother says that he was never engaged to the widow and that the only reason for hurrying the wedding was that the bride's parents were about to go to New Orleans to live.

WISE OLD DUCKS! THEY DEFIANTLY BRAVE SHOTGUNS

But They Know St. Charles Prohibits Shooting in Limits and So Stay in Town.

Wise old ducks, who have made many migratory trips and have fed in many waters without being shot, are hugging the shore of St. Charles, Mo., these near-spring days.

Foolish ducks, giddy young things, unused to the ways of the world of guns and birdshot, are being slaughtered because they don't know enough to keep out of St. Louis County.

Get Under Law's Wing.

In all of the sloughs north of St. Charles and along the Missouri River on the opposite shore the crack of the guns is heard early in the morning and late in the evening, but never a wise old duck falls.

There is a city ordinance which forbids shooting in St. Charles and this law is rigidly enforced along the city's entire river front. But for this law it would now be possible for many residents of St. Charles to sit at the windows of their homes or their offices and shoot ducks.

Nearly always there are several hundred fine mallards swimming or drifting with the current in the mile stretch of river from the waterworks to the Highway Bridge. They are the old campaigners, who know that so long as they keep within the city limits they are safe.

Hunters Wait in Vain.

Over on the St. Louis County side hunters wait in vain for the fat and wise old ducks to come within range of their "pumps."

The foolish ducks alone fly into the danger zone, while the deans of the flock, secure in the protection of the law, fatten on the corn which they pick up around the grain elevators and are happy in the prospect of living to a ripe old age.

BARN BURNS AFTER 3 THREATS

Farmer Who Received Penciled Warnings Believes Tramps Resented Lockout.

Three times in the last two weeks Anton Leiwecke, a farmer at Centaur, St. Louis County, found a note on his porch which read: "Your barn is going to be burned." All were in the same handwriting, in lead pencil.

Early Monday morning the barn burned. Leiwecke has turned over the notes to the county authorities. He thinks the tramps may have been angered because he kept his barn locked at night, thus depriving them of a sleeping place.

PECULIAR WAY TO HEAL SORES

That it is often by the simplest means that flesh rashes and sores are healed is shown by the quickness with which X-Zalia acts on the flesh. In cases where the most powerful of metallic salts make no impression in healing the flesh this soothing external liquid accomplishes the most wonderful results. This liquid, which is sold by druggists and put up by the X-Zalia Corporation of Boston, Mass., immediately takes out all the soreness of a rash and soon heals any eruption. It can be freely used with perfect safety.

FOOTPRINTS OF BURGLAR LOOK LIKE WOMAN'S

Thief Frightened From R. H. Upshaw Home, Leaped Off Porch.

The porch climber who entered the residence of Richard W. Upshaw at 5227 Westminster place had a foot so small and dainty that the police, after examing a footprint found where the burglar jumped from a rear portico, are puzzled as to whether the crime was committed by a woman or a boy.

The family was at supper when a maid, who had been sent upstairs on an errand, came running down the stairs screaming. She said she had heard someone trying to open a desk in Mr. Upshaw's room.

Desk Was Opened.

Investigation showed that the desk had been opened and a purse and several articles of jewelry were lying on the floor.

A window opening on the front porch and one leading to the rear portico were open. Apparently the burglar had entered through the front window and departed through the rear one.

In the soft earth near the back porch was a well-defined footprint made by a shoe so small that the police believe it could not have been made by a man. Nothing was taken from the house.

Burglars Get Spoons.

A burglar who entered the home of Fred W. Holmes of 6077 McPherson avenue Sunday night took only half a dozen souvenir spoons from a sideboard drawer in the dining room. A silver service and other articles of value were there.

The police believe that a burglar who robbed the residence of Dr. Walter B. Dorsett at 5070 Washington boulevard early Monday was a "dope fiend." He took a silver-mounted hypodermic syringe and 12 tubes each of morphine and strychnine.

From the physician's trousers he also took $100 in bills. The trousers were left in the front hall. Apparently the door was opened with a skeleton key, as it was locked when the family arose.

OLD SURGEON
Found Coffee Caused Hands to Tremble

The surgeon's duties require clear judgment and a steady hand. A slip or an unnecessary incision may do irreparable damage to the patient.

When he found that coffee drinking caused his hands to tremble, an Ills. surgeon conscientiously gave it up and this is his story:

"For years I was a coffee drinker until my nervous system was nearly broken down, my hands trembled so I could hardly write, and insomnia tortured me at night.

"Besides, how could I safely perform operations with unsteady hands, using knives and instruments of precision? When I saw plainly the bad effects of coffee, I decided to stop it, and three years ago I prepared some Postum, of which I had received a sample.

"The first cupful surprised me. It was mild, soothing, delicious. At this time I gave some Postum to a friend who was in a similar condition to mine, from the use of coffee.

"A few days after, I met him and he was full of praise for Postum, declaring he would never return to coffee but stick to Postum. We then ordered a full supply and within a short time my nervousness and consequent trembling, as well as insomnia disappeared, blood circulation became normal, no dizziness nor heat flashes.

"My friend became a Postum enthusiast, his whole family using it exclusively.

"It would be the fault of the one who brewed the Postum, if it did not taste good when served.

"The best food may be spoiled if not properly made. Postum should be boiled according to directions on the pkg. Then it is all right, anyone can rely upon it. It ought to become the national drink." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

CITY FIREMEN GOOD HUSBANDS, SWINGLEY SAYS

HOURS ARE BAD, BUT

Men Who Answer the Alarm Are Not Bankers, Can't Keep Bank Hours.

If you, St. Louis woman, were to exercise your leap year privilege today and had to choose between a policeman and a fireman for a husband, which would you select?

The fireman is on duty all the time, while policemen now work only eight hours a day. Three shifts of policemen look after the peace of the city, while only one shift of firemen guards its safety.

Yet Chief Swingley says that women whose husbands are firemen should not complain of their lot.

One Wife's Complaint.

The wife of a city fireman recently wrote to the Post-Dispatch saying that her life was made "more miserable than that of a soldier," because her husband only came home twice a day for an hour and a half each time, and is home only one night in each week. She says that because of his absence from his home he has lost all affection for his wife and children. He was a good husband until he got to be a fireman. Since he got on the department "the babies are forgotten," she says.

"He comes and goes like a stranger," she says, "and he is not the same man he was before he got the job of being a fireman."

"The fireman is a good deal better off than he was a few years ago," said Fire Chief Swingley. "In answer to the letter I would say that I live the life of a fireman myself. I sleep in an engine house and have done so ever since I entered the department as a boy. I go home at my regular meal hours and when the bell strikes a fire I leave the table and jump out the same as the men do.

Fireman Not a Banker.

"Of course, my wife would like it better if I stayed at home all the time. But a fireman is not a banker. When he joins the department he knows that he must live in the fire house and that he can go home only at certain hours to his meals. He knows that he has one day off a week, the same as I have, and he takes advantage of it by taking his wife out and entertaining her the same as every other man does.

"There are 726 men in the department and everyone of them is treated as well as the other. The girl who marries a fireman knows that her husband has three hours a day for his meals and that he has one night a week at home. If a fireman cannot make a woman contented and happy in those hours he never will.

"The life of a fireman is not a picnic. Firemen are about the same as other men, no better, no worse. So far as I know, firemen's wives are satisfied with their lives. There are worse."

One Wife Is Contented.

The wife of a fireman, who would not permit her name to be used, said:

"My husband has climbed up in the force until he has got to be a Captain. When I married him he was a private in the ranks. The 'lonely wife' of a fireman who writes to the Post-Dispatch is altogether wrong about the life of a fireman as I know it. I have several friends who are the wives of firemen and they are as happy as I. Firemen get good wages, and 80 per cent of them are married.

"My husband has three hours a day at home for his meals. One day in six he has off, and then he takes me driving or to the matinee. That is more than a lot of the women get whose husbands are clerks or merchants. There is nothing the matter with the lives of the wives of firemen—if the firemen are all right."

A fireman who had read the letter of the "lonely wife" laughed.

"I'm sorry for the little woman," he said. "If she is lonely she belongs in that class. It isn't any worse for a fireman who is married to be away from his wife than it is for her. I get home twice a day to see my kids, and when I can't get away at noon I have three hours at night. Firemen have no objection to their hours. It's part of the business, and every fireman's wife knows it. If I could be home every night with my folks I'd appreciate it as much as any man, but I can't, and my wife knows why."

MAN CLASSED AS "RICH OR IGNORANT" FIGHTS EDITOR

High School Question at Eureka Causes Articles That Cause Trouble.

H. H. Barnes, editor of the Times at Eureka, St. Louis County, was arrested Monday on a charge of striking Christopher Plaegemann, a prominent citizen of that town. The editor has been supporting the cause of those who think that the town should have a high school. He wrote a piece for his paper which said:

"It must be apparent to all that the high school movement is opposed by only two classes—the rich and the ignorant."

In reply to this Plaegemann came out with a statement that the high school would benefit only the poor. Thereupon Editor Barnes again dipped his pen into the gall-pot and wrote:

"It is apparent that Mr. Plaegemann belongs in one of the two classifications heretofore mentioned in these columns as being opposed to the high school."

The next time they met both swung but the editor's fist landed first. He will be tried before Justice Steines at Ponds, March 14.

CHICAGO CHIEF OF POLICE KILLS ANARCHIST IN HOME

gives it as his opinion that he was a degenerate. He has a narrow, retreating forehead and unusually small head.

Chief Describes Tragedy.

Chief Shippy said he believed that the presence of his son saved the Chief's life.

"I was called to the door by the maid this morning," he said, "just as I was preparing to go to the office. She told me the stranger there was the same man who called at the house three times yesterday, saying he had an important letter for me, but refusing to leave it with her. When I asked him for the note he made a suspicious move, and as I tried to grab him he jerked out a knife and cut me twice over the right arm.

"Harry, my son, and Jim Foley, the driver, who lives at the house, heard the noise and rushed to the door, pushing me aside. Just then the assassin started firing, the first two shots striking Harry in the chest. As he fell one shot hit Foley in the hand.

"As the fellow started to run, I got my gun working and he went down at the first shot, but I emptied the pistol to make sure of him."

Later in the day the Chief gave instructions for a general roundup of all suspected anarchists, Black Hand members and other suspicious characters. They will be given the choice of standing trial as suspicious characters or leaving the city immediately.

The attack on the Chief is believed to have been inspired by the recent activity of the Chicago police following the killing of Father Leo Heinrichs, a Roman Catholic priest, who was shot by an anarchist in Denver while he was administering the sacrament to his slayer.

Immediately following the tragedy in Denver attempts were made to trace the crime to a conspiracy hatched in Chicago. The local police discovered that a society of Italians was formed here and had been issuing inflammatory literature aimed at clericals and that also several local clergymen had received threatening letters.

Police Guarded Churches.

Yesterday while the funeral of Father Leo was being held in Paterson, N. J., details of police guarded several Roman Catholic churches here. Especial precautions were taken in the Italian quarter, where officers in citizens' clothes scrutinized every worshiper in the congregations. Later the officers moved to the altars and stood guard over the priests as they conducted the services.

In addition to these measures all well-known anarchists in the city, among them Emma Goldman, were warned that they would not be allowed to make addresses in public. So far as is known none attempted to disobey this order and no arrests were made of followers of the cult.

The documents sent out by the Italian organization were carefully worded and an examination of them showed that prosecutions based thereon might have failed because of technical shortcomings.

Shippy Veteran City Employe.

Born in Chicago in 1854, Chief of Police George M. Shippy has served 32 of his 54 years in the employ of the city of Chicago. He joined the Fire Department in 1876 and became the Captain in 1884. He became a member of the police force in 1887 and has been active in that department ever since. He was appointed Chief of Police by Mayor Busse April 6, 1907.

On Oct. 27, 1879, Mr. Shippy married Sadie L. Randall of Ashton, Ill. She objected to his continuing in the Fire Department, fearing that he would be killed, and he resigned and went into business for a short time. On Sept. 1, 1887, he was appointed a patrolman by Mayor Roche.

Thousands Attend Priest's Funeral.

PATERSON, N. J., March 2.—Thousands followed the hearse today which bore the body of Rev. Father Leo Heinrichs, slain by an anarchist at the altar of his church in Denver from the Church of St. Bonaventura to the Cemetery of the Holy Sepulchre.

For three years the Rev. Father Heinrichs was pastor of the church from which his funeral was held and all Paterson loved him. Such was the throng that 3000 could not get in the church, and waited in the drenching rain. Bishop O'Connor of Newark and 50 priests of the diocese aided in the service.

There were rumors of a demonstration planned by anarchists during the funeral and the police were on the alert for an outbreak.

CREECY CONGRATULATES CHIEF ON PROMPT ACTION

As soon as Chief of Police Creecy of St. Louis learned that Chief Shippy of Chicago had been attacked and had killed an Anarchist he sent him a telegram congratulating him on his escape. The telegram ended with this sentence:

"Such prompt action on the part of an officer in your position will do much to stamp out anarchy."

KILLS SISTER-IN-LAW AND WIFE AND ATTACKS BROTHER

Oklahoma Man Flees, but Is Being Closely Pursued by Posse.

BRISTOW, Ok., March 2.—In a family quarrel late yesterday John Curry, living south of Bristow, shot and killed his wife and the wife of his brother, and then fled. Officers and a posse of citizens are in pursuit.

Curry fired nine loads of buckshot into his wife's body. Curry's brother and the latter's wife witnessed the murder. Curry later turned his gun on his brother's wife, shooting and killing her also. Finally he attempted to shoot the brother, but the latter escaped.

SUING HUSBAND SHOWS JUDGE JUST WHAT "GOO-GOO" EYES ARE

Frank A. Kilber of 4230 Page boulevard, a middle-aged interior decorator, gave a personal illustration of goo-goo eyes for Judge Rule's benefit Monday. Kilber was testifying in his default suit for divorce from his wife, Nathalia, "better known as Nellie," whom he charged with flirting with other men.

"When we were out driving together she would make goo-goo eyes at men we passed," Kilber said, and proceeded to show what he meant. He turned in his chair, surveyed Judge Rule languishly, slowly closed his left eye and then opened both eyes wide.

He leaned far to one side with eyebrows lifted and half closed both eyes, then entirely closed one, then entirely closed the other.

Those are "goo-goo" eyes, he said. He won the decree.

BOBBY WALLACE ARRIVES TO JOIN BROWNS ON TRIP

Great Shortstop Comes Back to Reservation to Be Good Indian.

Bobby Wallace, the great shortstop of the St. Louis Browns, arrived in the city at noon ready to join the team in its training trip South.

For the past six weeks, the fans of St. Louis have feared that the wonderful little ballplayer would refuse to play again because of a disagreement on the salary question. But Wallace put all those fears to flight by turning up ready for the training trip to prepare the team for another pennant race.

President Hedges jumped out of his office chair with one bound when the door opened and Wallace smilingly entered. Just a few minutes before Hedges had remarked with a troubled expression that no word had yet been received from Wallace.

Now that Bobby is here, Hedges says his team is sure to be a factor in the American League pennant race. Wallace is declared by many to be the greatest shortstop in the business. He has received $6500 per annum for the past five years on the Browns club because of a long contract signed in war times. This year his salary was cut. It is believed to $5000, and for that reason he had refused to sign. However, there is not another shortstop in the big leagues drawing $5000 now and Wallace has probably realized that the amount is generous.

George Stone, the hard-hitting outfielder, also reported just before noon, as did Brown, the new and sensational first baseman.

Accidental drowning was the verdict of a Coroner's jury in Granite City Monday upon the death of Patrick Powey, a laborer living at Twenty-second and O'Fallon streets, St. Louis.

Powey was sitting on a pier at Venice Sunday awaiting a ferryboat, when he lost his balance and fell backward into the water. Bruises on his head indicate that he struck an obstruction in the water which rendered him unconscious. His body was recovered two hours later.

PRIZE OF $500 OFFERED FOR INVENTION TO MAKE ANIMAL SLAUGHTER HUMANE

Anti-Cruelty Society Leader Bars Use of Electricity and Wants Plans by June 1.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Henry Bergh, nephew of the founder of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in a letter in connection with the offer of a prize of $500 by the Society for an invention for the humane slaughter of animals for food, objects to present slaughter methods as cruelty.

"To mitigate as far as possible the sufferings inflicted on animals in killing them for the market," says the letter, "committees have been appointed by the American Humane Association and the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to investigate the various methods of slaughtering throughout this country and Europe.

Electricity for the purpose has been considered objectionable because of the danger to human life, its questionable humanity, especially in unskilled hands, and its possible injurious effect on the flesh of the animal."

Concluding, the letter says that in the competition for the prize, drawings and models, either or both, accompanied by a typewritten description, must be delivered at the offices of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 50 Mason avenue, before 6 p. m., Monday, June 1, 1908.

ENGINE STICKS IN MUD WHILE HOUSE IS BURNED

Fire Drives William E. Lee and His Wife From Their Home in Hurry.

While four horses were trying to pull a fire wagon out of the mud at Brannon avenue and Old Manchester road, four blocks away, the home of William I. Lee, a contractor, at 5443 Magnolia avenue, was destroyed by fire at 1 a. m. Monday.

The engine did not arrive until 35 minutes after the second alarm had been turned in. There was then nothing for the firemen to do.

Mrs. Lee, awakened by the crackling of flames in the dining room adjoining their bedroom, aroused her husband and they fled to the street in their nightclothes.

After a wait of 20 minutes, Anton Hack turned in a second alarm. L. E. Missey, a neighbor, tried to remove furniture from the house and his hand was cut by flying glass which was broken by the intense heat. Neighbors rescued four horses from a stable in the rear of the Lee home. Nothing else was saved.

CHIEF JUSTICE WORKED WHILE HE SLEPT; SENT MURDERER TO HIS DEATH

Letters Show That Reported Opinion on Affirmed Sentence Was Written While Somnambulistic.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 2.—A remarkable story has just come to light here of an opinion of the Supreme Court of Tennessee affirming the death sentence of Andrew Smith, a negro, in 1870.

The opinion was written by Chief Justice Nicholson when he was in a somnambulistic state and was thoroughly sound both as to the law and the facts. It is one of the reported opinions, being printed as an authority to this day on the technical law points involved.

Peter Turney, afterward Governor of Tennessee, saw the Chief Justice arise from his bed, write the lengthy document and again retire. Next day, Justice Nicholson had no recollection of the incident.

The elaborate opinion covered all the facts cited and ended with an affirmation of the court below. Letters from the late Gov. Turney, in the possession of one of Chattanooga's most prominent attorneys, corroborate the foregoing story.

MATCH HEAD SOLUTION MADE TOO HASTILY, FAILS TO KILL

Bridegroom, Reproved by Brother for Drinking, Tries to Commit Suicide.

Sidney B. Baker, aged 18, a bridegroom of six months, left his 16-year-old bride in Alton, came back to St. Louis and drank a solution of match heads at the home of his brother, John Baker, 1221 Pine street. He is in the City Hospital, and is expected to recover.

Baker has a photograph gallery at 201 West Third street Alton. He had been scolded by his brother for drinking, and when the subject came up again Sunday he left the room in a passion and prepared the match-head solution. He was in such haste that he got more broken sticks than match heads into the water, and the solution was therefore a weak one.

Illustrated songs were sung by Misses Elsie Krey, Mary Mullenschlater and Joseph Bruening.

MODEL WHO DANCES WITH SKELETON FAINTS WHILE BEING POSED AMONG DEAD

Taken Into Anatomical Laboratory Blindfolded, Girl Has Hysterics When Eyes Are Unbandaged.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Miss Franc Kingsnorth, an artist's model, was led blindfolded into a room filled with cadavers yesterday and was photographed for a picture to be entitled "Asleep With the Dead." She fainted when the bandage was removed.

Her collapse was followed by hysterics, in which she screamed and struggled to free herself from what seemed to her a living tomb, until she fell in an unconscious heap on the floor of the anatomical laboratory.

For hours after her experience she was in a precarious condition at the home of a physician where she was removed following the scene created as the result of an effort to obtain a photograph that would eclipse all the imaginative horrors conceived by art.

Miss Kingsnorth previously had nerved herself to waltz with an articulated skeleton, and to pose with the same bony remnant of a departed personality upon her lap, and several pictures were taken.

HOORAY—HERE'S A NEW TOUCH IN MUSICAL PLAYS

"The Girl Question" Tells Real Story Along Straight Comedy Lines.

MAKES NEW STARS

Its Two Worthiest Characters Don't Sing a Note—Just Fancy!

BEFORE very long somebody will write a clever German-American comedy for young Carl H. George, who played the uncapitalized role of Baron Max von Tesmar in "The Girl Question" at the Century last night, and then we'll have a new star in the theatrical firmament.

This is the sure promise of young Mr. George's work, which already makes him the most notable member of "The Girl Question's" cast, despite the fact that several others are billed more prominently than he. A clear and confident touch in character creation, a clean grasp of humor, an undeniable gift for pathos and sentiment, a knack of reaching across the footlights and getting his grip on the affections of an audience—all these things are manifest in this player's equipment. And they are the things that count for stardom.

A New Departure in Musical Comedy.

"The Girl Question" itself has its certain faults and its happily more certain merits. In the moments during which it cleaves to the established methods of musical comedy it is no better than dozens of other musical comedies seen every season—sometimes not so good. But fortunately it doesn't hold fast to the hackneyed lines of ancient jingle and antique jest at all moments—indeed, it throws tradition to the winds in the most refreshingly daring spirit by telling a real story with absolute disregard of musical comedy conventions that have thus far prevailed to destroy so much genuine comedy.

Each of its three curtains falls on an absolutely quiet dramatic picture—no "ensemble" of shouting chorus, shrieking prima donna, throat-straining tenor, toe-twinkling soubrette or clowning funny man. Two of its leading characters do not sing at all. Others in the cast are called upon to act as well as sing. Sometimes there's such a long interval between the musical numbers that one forgets it's a musical comedy.

Paul Nicholson and Carl George in "The Girl Question" Thus Seen by a Post-Dispatch Cartoonist

Taken all in all, it's the most curious offering of its class that has come down the amusement pike for many a season. Measuring its merits against its faults, it capably blazes the way along a new trail that leads to a very excellent goal, that of alleged music and buffoonery subordinated to real humor and "story."

A Case of Unexpected Stars.

Paul Nicholson as Con Ryan is the announced star of "The Girl Question," and he does very nicely along Victor Moore-Kid Burns lines, but, as I've already told you, he's distanced for first place by young Mr. George. Marguerite DeVon as Elsie Davis is the soubrette star of the cast—and she could be better, considering her ample opportunities—but, anyway, she becomes of secondary importance beside Henrietta Tedro as 'Joe" Forster, the most oddly wistful figure yet seen in musical comedy. And, since it's young Mr. George and young Miss Tedro who don't sing a note all evening, and yet carry off the evening's honors, you can see how "different" "The Girl Question" is in its accepted class.

Next to Mr. George and Miss Tedro in the affections of the audience is little Fritzi Smith, a diminutive chorus girl who causes laughter by an infantile awkwardness that seems to tell us she isn't yet "onto her job"—but that's plainly a clever trick of Ned Wayburn's who staged the production. It makes good, however, thanks to the naivette of the little Smith girl who annexes "Fritzi" to soften the shock of Smith on a musical comedy muster roll.

Last night's audience liked "The Girl Question" very much indeed, giving numerous curtain calls and compelling Mr. Nicholson to make a speech—all of which indicates, let us hope, that playgoers have at last wearied of the unvarying pattern by which musical comedy has hitherto cut its coat. Librettists Hough and Adams were right plucky to do their work as they have—Composer Howard's music doesn't count for much either way—it will be a good thing if "The Girl Question" leads us out of the musical comedy "slough of despond."

And maybe it will—who knows? If producing managers see that there's money to be made by putting real stories into musical plays and not compelling every member of the cast to sing for his supper, whether with or without a singing voice—well, the trick's turned, right there. The verdict of the box office is what counts.

JUDGE HAMILTON, YELLOW DOG FUND LAWYER, DIES IN SLEEP

Noted Insurance Disbursing Agent Succumbs to Heart Failure in Night.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 2.—Andrew Hamilton, better known as "Judge" Hamilton, formerly distributor of the "yellow dog" fund of the New York Life and other insurance companies, for many years in charge of litigation and legislative matters for them in the various states of the Union and in Canada, died suddenly of heart disease in his sleep some time Saturday night, and was found by members of his family about 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning at his home.

For the last ten years of his life Judge Hamilton was best known as an expert authority on insurance law, upon which he has written widely. His annotation of the insurance law of this State is regarded as practically alone in its field. He issued the first editions of the State penal code and code of criminal procedure and was editor also of the State corporation laws, banking law, railroad law and other laws.

Judge Hamilton came into prominence during the Armstrong insurance investigation in 1905, when his unexpected appearance before the Insurance Committee, which was holding a public hearing in the Assembly chamber on the afternoon of Thursday, March 15, 1906, was one of the most dramatic incidents that has ever taken place at the State Capitol.

ROBBERS USE A WAGON TO LOOT STORE OF $5,000

Carry Away Olive Street Women's Tailor's Entire Spring Stock.

One hundred and fifty bolts of cloth were carried out of the women's tailoring establishment of C. E. Bennett, 1426 Olive street and hauled away in a wagon about 4:30 Monday morning by a trio of burglars.

The burglars also carted away six suits or parts of suits, either completed or in process of construction for rich St. Louis women.

Mr. Bennett values his stolen property at between $4000 and $5000. The cloth taken represented his entire new spring stock, as well as a large portion of his staple suitings.

Negro Sees Burglars Work.

John Brown, a negro, who lives in the rear of 1422 Olive street, says he saw the burglars drive away from the Bennett store. He was awakened by the noise of their wagon, he says, and stuck his head out of his window to see what was going on. He noticed, as the wagon drove away, he told the police, that it was a drab-colored vehicle with an arched top and a seat in the back.

Brown was arrested and will be used by the police in an effort to identify the suspects they round up.

The burglars entered through a rear door by cutting a hole in the glass window and forcing the lock. It is the opinion of Mr. Bennett that the men were familiar with the values of cloth, as they were careful to take all the new spring stock and left much of the winter suiting fabrics behind.

He found that they had left in a passageway in rear of the building a half dozen bolts of winter goods which they had tied up.

The stolen cloth includes many yards of broadcloth, Venetians and English and Irish serges.

Work Behind Chairs.

The burglars took all the cloth from the tables in the front part of the store, where they were piled in bundles of eight. To hide their work from persons passing the store, they put chairs on the tables where the cloth had been piled and placed over the chairs the black cover that had hidden the cloth.

The garments taken by the burglars were hanging in the rear part of the store. The burglars must have hurried in this part of their work, as they took two or three newly made skirts, leaving the coats behind. They took one white suit that had not been completed and that the owner had tried on only once.

500 MEN RETURN TO WORK AT ALTON GLASS FACTORY

Employers Have Enough Orders to Keep Night Men Busy Until End of the Year.

Five hundred men who were laid off the first of the year by the Illinois Glass Works at Alton will return to work Monday night. The management promised them work the rest of the year.

These men were in the night shift. The first of the year they were told by their employers that owing to the financial stringency and industrial depression there was a lack or orders, something unusual for that time of year.

The management announced Monday that there were enough orders then in sight to promise the 500 men steady work for the rest of the year.

There is another glass factory in Alton that laid off a part of its men the first of the year. Unofficially it is said that work will be resumed there soon.

Quarrymen's Strike Affects 5000.

BOSTON, March 2.—More than 5000 granite cutters, quarrymen and others employed in the granite industry and in surrounding centers of Barre, Vt.; Montpelier, Vt., and Westerly, R. I., were affected by a suspension of work today, due to a failure by the unions and manufacturers to agree to the provisions of a new wage scale and working agreement.

The Saddle Lunch Room,
204 N. 6th street, will make a specialty of Oyster and Fish dishes during Lent. Not a great variety—but—the Best.

HITCHCOCK CASE AGAIN DELAYED

NEW YORK, March 2.—The trial of Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, who is charged with maltreating a young girl, was again continued today by Justice Blanchard in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court, going over until March 10.

An arrangement was effected whereby Hitchcock's attorney will be allowed to inspect the minutes of the grand jury that indicted him.

CURES COLDS QUICKLY

A never failing home remedy for coughs and colds is made from the following formula to be mixed at home:

"Two ounces of glycerine, one-half ounce of Concentrated oil of pine, one-pint of good whiskey, mix and shake thoroughly; use in doses of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful every four hours."

This will cure any cough that is curable or break up an acute cold in twenty-four hours. The ingredients all can be gotten at any drug store. Concentrated oil of pine comes put up for medicinal use only in half ounce vials enclosed in tin screw top cases designed to protect it from heat and light. To get the right article be sure it is the "Concentrated" oil of pine, as this is really the only soluble pine preparation known to science and is the result of the experiments made in the pine forests of Maine. * * *

SAID TO PREVENT TYPHOID.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 2.—Several authorities on the subject state typhoid fever cannot attack those who keep the toxic poisons of constipation out of the system with a remedy that acts on the entire alimentary tract and not merely on the liver.

Investigation and statistics show undoubtedly that one remedy is an absolute preventative. This remedy, strange as it may seem, is a harmless little pill that nourishes the bowel nerves, called Blackburn's Castor-Oil-Pills. All progressive druggists now sell these pills at popular prices and the public is being made aware of their merit by the extensive advertising of the man behind the pills.

Colds and Chills Bring Kidney Backache

The winter months are hardest on the kidneys. Every draught, cold or chill throws added work upon these filters of the blood. Weakened kidneys quickly clog and cause a sudden stiffness of the back. Next comes a dull throbbing backache, varied with stabs of keenest pain, headache, dizziness, lameness in the morning. It hurts to stoop, sit down or turn in bed. Usually the urine is discolored. If all danger of gravel, dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease is to be averted, begin using Doan's Kidney Pills as soon as you notice the first sign of backache or urinary trouble. This remedy quickly frees congested kidneys, relieves inflammation, heals, tones and strengthens. By restoring health to the kidneys Doan's Kidney Pills cure backache.

Keep Well by Keeping The Kidneys Well

The kidneys filter the blood. Their work goes on unceasingly. Well kidneys filter out each day an ounce of uric poison and nearly two pints of water. But if the kidneys work imperfectly and uric acid is retained, it causes rheumatic pain, gout, sciatica, nervousness, headache, gravel, heart trouble, etc. It attacks all the organs and weakens the system. Every change of the weather makes you miserable. The body is less able to resist colds, chills, grip, and the germs of disease. It is therefore very important to keep the kidneys well and if their action seems irregular, passages too frequent, painful or of a bad color, it is best to help them right away. Doan's Kidney Pills bring quick relief, restore healthy kidney action, cure permanently.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE SICK KIDNEYS

ST. LOUIS PROOF

William Tracy, 5751 Cote Brilliante Av., St. Louis, Mo., says: "When I first started using Doan's Kidney Pills in 1901 I was in a pretty bad condition. For nearly two years I had suffered off and on from backache, which was always more severe if I contracted a cold or worked a little harder than usual. At night I would have to rise several times on account of kidney afflictions, and I always had a tired, languid feeling. It required only the contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills to cure me of this trouble, and during the years which have passed there has been no sign of a return of the annoyances. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone afflicted in a similar manner."

Mrs. M. Meyers, living at 114 S. 14th St., St. Louis, Mo., says: "In 1901 I gave a testimonial in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills in which I told how they had cured me of kidney trouble. I am now willing to confirm that statement, as I think just as highly of this remedy as I did then. I suffered a great deal from pains in my back and loins, also from backaches and other symptoms of kidney trouble. As previously stated, Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of my suffering and I will always be willing to speak in their favor."

MR. SMITH. (From a Photo.)

John J. Smith, a prominent Grand Army man of 724 East Fourth St., New Albany, Ind., says: "For years my kidneys were out of order. The urine was either cloudy or contained a red, gritty sediment. Passages were painful and compelled me to get up as often as six times a night. Though I doctored constantly, my back continued to ache. I was always tired, and my sight began to fail me. At last I had to give up and go to bed. Then dropsy set in. My feet and hands swelled enormously, and my heart became affected so badly that I could not lie down. For weeks I sat propped in a chair, gasping for breath, with my family sitting about fearing that I would die at any moment. My post comrades paid their last call. This was my condition when I quit taking the doctor's medicine and began with Doan's Kidney Pills. It seemed almost miraculous that after taking three boxes I was out on crutches, and soon after that I was able to lay them aside and walk with a cane. A year has now passed. I am perfectly sound and well, appetite good, weight 170, kidneys regular and no heart trouble. If anybody doubts this let him write me or inquire of my neighbors.

ST. LOUIS PROOF

Mrs. Samuel Moore, 4060 St. Ferdinand Av., St. Louis, Mo., says: "I can never express my thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills for benefit I obtained from their use in 1901, and I think it is the least I can do to recommend them to others troubled as I was. Previous to using them I suffered a great deal from backache. The least cold I contracted settled in my kidneys and made my suffering worse. When I stooped a sharp pain would dart through the small of my back and when I straightened it would again appear and almost take my breath away. Thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills this suffering is now a thing of the past."

Peter Dippal, 2017 James St., St. Louis, Mo., says: "When I started using Doan's Kidney Pills five years ago I was in pretty bad shape with my back and kidneys, a sharp stitch or pain going through them when I would bend over. I was troubled in this way for three years when I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and procured a box. I used them according to directions and was soon as strong in my back as at any period in my life. The kidneys became regular in action. Since that time I have had no return of the trouble and can as cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I gave a statement in their favor in the summer of 1901."

BULLET HOLES INDICATE ROY SHOT AT WIFE

Portsmouth Sheriff Says Carkins' Love for Sister Cost Him His Life.

HUSBAND OVERBEARING

"He Had Been Living Off Gladys," Declares Her Stepfather.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 2.—Sheriff Marcus M. Collis and a New York World and Post-Dispatch reporter visited the Roy homestead at Bayside, Newington, where George A. Carkins met his death on the night of Jan. 2 at the hands of Paul Roy, who is now in Paris. They were accompanied by John D. Kelley, stepfather of Mrs. Glacia Calla Roy, and a photographer sent by the County Attorney to make pictures of the room in which Carkins was killed.

Since the shooting of Carkins the keys of the house have been in the possession of the county officials, and Sheriff Collis' visit was made in part to see whether the house had been entered, as was reported in a letter to Col. John E. Bartlett, counsel for Mrs. Roy.

That George Carkins' devotion to his sister cost him his life is plainly shown by the bullet holes in the kitchen. Sheriff Collis thinks that when Carkins signaled to his sister to leave the room he saw Roy draw his revolver; that the first two shots fired by the enraged husband were intended for the wife, and that when she succeeded in reaching the butler's pantry he turned upon Carkins, who was sitting in a chair smoking.

Roy's Presence Distasteful.

That Roy's presence at the home had become distasteful to his wife and brother was learned today from John D. Kelley, who said:

"He was no good to Gladys. He had been living off her, and neither George nor any of us (meaning himself and wife) could tolerate his presence, as he was so overbearing."

From the same source it was learned that Roy's flight from this country was precipitate, as the hamper which was sent to New York at his request

HOT BISCUIT

Kind of Breakfast Passing Away.

The old-time hot biscuit played a prominent role in the breakfast bill of fare, along with fried potatoes, ham and eggs, and coffee.

The whiter and lighter the biscuit the more pleased the cook, which was usually Mother, who did the best she could, with her understanding of the matter.

But most people have learned in recent years, that white flour lacks the nourishing elements of the entire wheat berry, and many cases of imperfect nutrition follow its use.

In Grape-Nuts, all the food elements of wheat and barley are used, and this largely accounts for results similar to those given in the following letter:

"I wish to tell of the health and strength-giving properties of Grape-Nuts. I am 45 years old and had for years been afflicted with indigestion and other stomach troubles, brought on by eating hot biscuit, white bread and improperly cooked cereals.

"Noticing an advertisement stating the benefits derived from eating Grape-Nuts, I was skeptical because I had tried so many so-called 'health foods,' I thought it would be useless to try Grape-Nuts.

"But during the last six months I have been eating it, my stomach has been the best for years, my mind clear, my nerves quiet and a feeling of buoyancy pervades my whole being.

"This I attribute to Grape-Nuts as I have left off using medicines. I now firmly believe in the brain-clearing, nerve-steadying and muscle-building properties of Grape-Nuts.

"I am healthier than I have been for years, weigh 180 lbs., which is more than ever before."

FORT QUITS AND STATE CHAIRMAN BECOMES CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

IN his announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination—which was predicted by the Post-Dispatch at the time of the State Committee meeting in Jefferson City—after a conference with advisors of Gov. Folk at the Southern Hotel Sunday, Judge W. N. Evans of West Plains, chairman of the Democratic State Committee and Judge of the Twentieth Judicial Circuit, says:

JUDGE W. N. EVANS.

"On Jan. 27 I made a public statement that I was not a candidate for Governor, as then Judge J. L. Fort, my neighbor, was a candidate. Since that time, in a private communication to me, he expressed a desire that I become a candidate, and offered to withdraw from the race and support me if I consented to run.

"I have, therefore, concluded to make the race, and my name will go on the ticket in the Democratic State primary as such candidate. The Democratic State platform of 1906 expresses my views.

"I am in full accord with the policies and work of our excellent and brave Governor, J. W. Folk, and if I am elected Governor of Missouri the policies he has inaugurated and so well established in this State will be continued, for I believe in them with all my heart, and when I make this statement I take it that every well-informed person knows what I mean and where I stand.

In regard to the liquor traffic. I reiterate my former statement that I am not a prohibitionist, yet I believe the question should be submitted to a vote of the people, and if a majority favor such policy, it should become a law and be enforced. This is the only democratic way to change or amend the constitution of the State; it is the people's constitution, and they have a right to change it when a majority of the legal voters so decide. When it is submitted there will be time to discuss the merits or demerits of the proposed amendment.

I believe in the local option law and its enforcement, and I favor its amendment so as to make it effective wherever adopted. I am in favor of a law fully protecting a local option district against the unlawful shipment of liquors into such territory, and if it is so shipped, it should immediately become subject to the laws of the county where deposited.

I am a Democrat, and willing to trust the people and abide by their decision. I have lived in South Missouri 40 years—ever since I was a boy—and have been identified with local and State politics all that time.

BALL SAYS HE WILL FIND NEW FOLK OPPONENT

Pike County Man Declares Himself When Fort Comes Out for Evans.

When Judge W. H. Evans, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, decided to enter the contest for the Democratic nomination for Governor he was warned by Col. Dave Ball of Pike County, also a candidate for that honor, that Gov. Folk would have another rival for United States Senator.

"I shall pay no attention to Col. Ball's threat," said Judge Evans to a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Southern Hotel Monday.

Every Democrat Free to Run.

"Every Democrat is free to enter the senatorial race, likewise any Democrat has the privilege of running for Governor.

"If Col. Ball gets another candidate besides Senator Stone into the senatorial fight, that is his affair, not mine. But I don't think he will do it."

Folk Silent as to Evans.

Folk is silent on Judge Evans' candidacy. He said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent at Jefferson City that at this time he had nothing to add to the position he took on the governorship in his senatorial announcement several weeks ago. In that announcement the Governor declared he would not take sides in the gubernatorial contest as between men, but that if during the course of the campaign there arose a question of principle he would not hesitate to state his preference. He recently told friends in private conversation that he believed Evans would make a strong candidate.

Judge J. L. B. Fort, who withdrew from the contest to make room for Judge Evans, made the following statement Monday:

Says Prohibitionists Lukewarm.

"I was led to believe, before I entered the race, that the Prohibition party would not put a candidate for Governor in the field, in the event of my candidacy. But it seems the Prohibition party is in favor of prohibition only in the event that it cannot be secured.

"But when there is a reasonable prospect of securing it, that party seems opposed to prohibition.

"Judge Evans stands for the law-inforcement policies of Gov. Folk's administration and believes that Democracy means the rule of the people. He is a good and clean man and I shall support him to the fullest extent of my limited influence. I have no doubt of his nomination and election."

REPRESENTATIVES DEMAND AIRING OF NAVY SCANDAL

DeArmond of Missouri and Gregg of Texas to Take Matter to House Floor.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Representative Gregg of Texas, a member of the Committee on Naval Affairs, declared to the correspondent of the Post-Dispatch that unless the Committee on Rules shall decide by Tuesday to order a full investigation of the Electric Boat Co., as requested in the Lilley resolution he will rise to a question of inquiry. Mr. Gregg called on the Speaker a few days ago and told him he considered the situation serious, but "Uncle Joe" declared the Lilley charges too broad to be deserving of serious consideration.

Representative DeArmond of Missouri is another member of the committee who is eager for an exhaustive investigation.

It is understood that Representative Ellis of Oregon, a Republican, will second the demand of Mr. Gregg.

The Committee on Rules will hold another meeting today.

It is said a scandal will jeopardize the seats of half a dozen Republican members of the Naval Committee and this danger is believed by many to overshadow all other considerations with Mr. Cannon.

BOY PRONOUNCED CURED OF VICIOUSNESS BY OPERATION ATTACKS WOMAN WITH AX

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 2.—Clyde Turner, a 13-year-old boy of Independence, Mo., was taken to the Postgraduate Hospital, Jan. 6, and operated on for "viciousness." His skull was opened and a small bone that was pressing on the brain removed. As a result the surgeons said Clyde would be a good boy for the remainder of his life.

Saturday afternoon Clyde attacked his grandmother with an ax and she fled in terror. Two men were called in from the neighborhood to quell him, but he stood them off and they dared not lay hands on him.

Soon afterward he disappeared. It was learned he had started East from Independence, and Lexington, Lake City, Buckner and other towns were notified to look for him.

The operation on Clyde was ordered by the Juvenile Court on the recommendation of physicians. The boy was struck on the head by an iron bolt when a child and had always shown vicious traits. About three weeks previous to the operation he attacked his grandmother with a knife.

WIFE GIVES MAN UP TO POLICE TO SAVE HER LIFE

Betrayed by the wife whose life he had threatened, Fred W. Waldron, alias Hatfield, occupies a cell in Central District holdover, awaiting the arrival of detectives to take him to Chicago, where he is wanted on a charge of embezzlement.

Hatfield at first denied knowing the woman who called herself his wife. He said the police had made an awful blunder in arresting him, protested his innocence in emphatic language and pretended to be highly indignant.

Confesses Woman Tells Truth.

His demeanor changed, however, when the woman was brought into his presence in the office of Night Chief Gillaspy Sunday night. He heard her story and then, with a sigh of resignation, confessed that what she told was the truth.

The woman, who called herself Mrs. Waldron, said she married "Hatfield" six years ago. He was employed with an express company in Chicago. On July 5 last, she says, he stole a package containing $250 and ran away from her.

Mrs. Waldron came to St. Louis and went to work as a maid at 1141 Market street. Waldron learned of her presence here, she said, and followed her. He demanded money from her and when she refused to give him any threatened to kill her.

Weakens as He Faces Cell.

"This woman is mistaken, Chief," said the prisoner. "My name is Hatfield. I do not know her. I'm a respectable traveling salesman and I can prove it."

Gillaspy told "Hatfield" he would be locked up and held until the charge against him could be verified.

"The woman is telling the truth, Chief," said "Hatfield" after a moment's hesitation. "She is my wife. My name is Waldron and I'm wanted in Chicago."

Mrs. Waldron said Monday:

"I would not have followed my husband here, but he kept begging me to come to him, and his mother added her entreaties to his and said I ought to come to him because she thought my presence would help to reform him. On that plea alone I came here. But when I reached here I found that he was not at work, and that he would not work, but that he only wished me here so he could coax money from me.

Demanded Money With Knife.

"As soon as I got here he demanded money. He drew a knife and threatened my life. He said he would kill me if I did not give him money. When I realized fully how small and mean he was and what he wished to use me for, my love for him turned to hate and I gave him up to the police."

"Will you go back to Chicago to appear against him?" she was asked.

"I will."

HUSBAND OF BARONESS WAS A BALTIMORE TOBACCONIST

BALTIMORE, Md., March 2.—The husband of the Baroness Orendorf was Jackson Orendorf, a well-to-do tobacconist of this city, and a member of a prominent Baltimore family. Orendorf's sister, Marie Orendorf, lives in East Madison street.

She was anxious to avoid being drawn into what she declared "a horrible affair," but admitted that her brother had about twenty-five years ago married Miss Annie Bonrer, a beautiful girl, whose father, a prosperous farmer, had removed from Montgomery County to Forest Glen.

"All that I can say about the Baroness," said Miss Orendorf, "is that she married my brother here. After this marriage the couple resided in the city for five years and then moved away.

"After that time I entirely lost sight of my brother and his wife. Several years ago my brother died and I have never taken the trouble to trace my sister-in-law. My brother had one child, who I believe is alive and makes his home down in Virginia."

Miss Orendorf denied any knowledge of Glacia Calla or of her sister-in-law's connection with the former actress.

"I have read several accounts of that horrible affair," continued Miss Orendorf. "But I say positively that I do not know who she is."

contained two repeating rifles, as well as other things prized by him.

George Carkins, when he was killed by his brother-in-law, had come to pay a brief visit to his sister prior to going to Boston, where he had obtained a position and was to remarry his divorced wife.

The remarkable affection shown by the sister for her younger brother is the topic of general conversation, but on this point Mrs. Roy is exceedingly uncommunicative. For years the affection bestowed on George, while the older brother, James, was completely in the background was the wonder of all who knew them.

While it is generally regarded that Glacia Calla and George A. Carkins are own sister and brother, their actions on many occasions have led people to think that a stronger tie of friendship existed between them.

George Carkins was always uppermost in his sister's thoughts and only last fall, when he was ill of pneumonia, she telegraphed to the dean of a Boston medical school to come to his assistance, telling him she would give him $1000 or even more to save her brother's life.

The dissimilarity between them—one cultured and refined, the other practically without these qualities and lacking of ambition, but hail fellow well met—lends people to marvel at their devotion to each other. Behind it all there is believed to be a mystery.

JAMES OLIVER, INVENTOR OF THE "CHILLED" PLOW, IS DEAD

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 2.—James Oliver, millionaire plow manufacturer, died here this morning.

He was born in Scotland Aug. 28, 1823, and came to the United States with his family at the age of 12 years. His parents settled on a farm near Geneva, N. Y., but remained there only one year, removing to Mishawauka, Ind., where Oliver lived until 1855.

Young Oliver learned the foundry trade and in 1855 began the manufacture of plows. The "chilled plow," his invention, made him wealthy.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it!

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swelling, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

To aid in healing old sores, or ulcers, apply Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve to them while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" to purify and enrich the blood.

Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve is cleansing and pain relieving. It destroys the bad odors arising from suppurating, or running, sores and puts them in the best possible condition for healing.

The "All-Healing Salve" is a superior dressing for all open, running, or suppurating, Sores or Ulcers. For healing open wounds, cuts and scratches it is unsurpassed.

If your medicine dealer does not have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock mail 50 cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive it by return post.

In treating all open sores, or ulcers boils, carbuncles, and other swellings, it is important that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery be taken persistently to purify the blood and thereby remove the cause of the trouble. It is in the blood that the great battle of health has to be fought. The ulcer and the sore are simply the scarlet flowers of disease, with roots running down into the blood. These roots must be eradicated or the disease will break out afresh. "Golden Medical Discovery" cleanses the blood of all foul and poisonous accumulations, pushes out the dead and waste matter, and thus purifies the entire life current. Disease in the flesh must die out when it is no longer fed by foul blood. "Golden Medical Discovery" effectively cures disease in the flesh by curing its cause in the blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, bad taste in your mouth, coated tongue, impure breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter rising after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid, or lazy, liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and its attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

Cures Woman's Ailments.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"A remedy which invariably acts as an invigorator. * * * makes for normal activity of the entire system." He continues: "In Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purpose than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom than a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent.' Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, depression and irritability constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys and kindred ailments."

Dr. John Fyfe, one of the Editorial staff of THE ELECTRIC MEDICAL REVIEW, says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica), which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medicinal properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of golden seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in all catarrhal conditions. . . . and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original Little Liver Pills, first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. Easy to take as candy.

ENGLISH EXPERT URGES CENTRAL BANK FOR U. S.

E. H. Holden, Head Big London Institution, Would Also Merge Many City Banks.

CRITICISES ROOSEVELT

Wipe Out Weak Financial Concerns and Centralize Others Is Banker's Advice.

Copyright, 1908, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

LONDON, March 2.—The great banks of London are rapidly increasing their gold reserve. They are hoarding the yellow metal, piling it up in their own vaults, making themselves more solid, more stable against violent disturbances of credit and currency like the United States are now experiencing.

One of the strongest of England's financial institutions is the London City and Midland Bank, which represents the amalgamation and absorption of 50 other banks. Its chairman and managing director is E. H. Holden, Member of Parliament, expert in the science of finance and close student of American affairs.

Roosevelt Criticised.

To the Post-Dispatch correspondent, who asked what suggestions and criticisms he had to make on the financial difficulties of the United States, he said:

"I have read President Roosevelt's messages, and I am sorry to say that I fear that he does not understand finance. He does not understand the fundamental principles of the subject. Therefore, he is adding to the popular confusion. You cannot restore confidence by attacking credit. You cannot re-establish stability by indiscriminate onslaughts. I have wished that he had some wise, disinterested adviser, some man who thoroughly understood the subject, who could give him the guidance of an expert.

Panic Is Needed.

"In the past I have said to many of your financiers that the United States would need a panic to bring about financial reforms. That the panic should come was inevitable; but, if I may say this in a sense that will be understood, I almost regret that your panic has not been more severe, that its pangs have not been felt more acutely in order that more complete changes might be made in both your system of finance and in the administration of your banks.

"You have asked me for suggestions. I will give you one:

"Remove the restriction that prevents national banks from having branches.

"Then, by purchase and amalgamation, I would consolidate all the banks in and around New York into half a dozen strong institutions. The smaller banks in the cities and towns of the East would become branches of these few central ones.

St. Louis for a Center.

"In Boston I would do the same for New England. Three or four banks in Chicago would absorb everything in that territory. Minneapolis, St. Louis, New Orleans and San Francisco would be other centers for a few strong banks, each with as many branches as business required.

"The result of this would be the elimination of a thousand weak institutions and the substitution of a few strong ones in which there would be absolute confidence and security. There would be a wise, experienced, central administration that would prevent unsound loans and personal use of depositors' funds. There would be an end to incompetent management. There could be greater power of expansion or contraction as any particular region might require. There would be a hundred advantages that I might enumerate.

Central Bank Urged.

"The next step, I realize, would be more difficult, for I know the American fondness of home rule and the prejudice still existing from the time of Andrew Jackson. But the logical procedure, after having established this system of a few strong banks in various centers, with many branches, would be the creation of one central bank. It would have to deal principally with these central point banks, and it could be of greatest power and help to the entire nation.

"The lack of trained men has been one of the weaknesses of your scattered banking system. We look to character here in our banker. Let me cite my own case. I take most scrupulous care that my name is never even mentioned on the Stock Exchange. I am not a director in any other concern aside from this bank. I have no investments in any stock companies. I refrain from buying shares in corporations. If I have surplus cash, I keep it in the vaults."

John Durney, former workhouse guard, died at his home, 420 South Fourteenth street, Monday morning, as the result of an accident he met with while nursing his wife, who died one week ago. He leaves six orphans.

Physicians had prescribed liquid malt food in an effort to build up Mrs. Durney's constitution, and while opening a bottle her husband cut his hand. He paid no attention to the injury, devoting his entire time to his sick wife. After her death Durney's hand began swelling. Blood poisoning had developed and the affection spread rapidly.

The children are Anna, Grace, Agnes, Mamie, William and Joseph. A brother, who is connected with the fire department, will have charge of the funeral arrangements. Durney was 52 years old.

A. H. White, Jonesboro, Tenn., Succumbs to Concussion of Brain as Result of Fall.

A. H. White of Jonesboro, Tenn., died at 7:30 a. m. Monday at the City Hospital from concussion of the brain. He did not recover consciousness after his fall Saturday afternoon at the Union Station, when one of his overshoes, a size too large for him, came off, causing him to trip on the Eighteenth street steps.

He weighs 220 pounds, and the fall killed him.

White was 60 years old and married. No word has been received from his Jonesboro relatives.

HUNT FAILED, PRESIDENT SAYS, BECAUSE BEARS WERE WARNED

He Tells Louisiana Editors He Thinks His Coming Was Too Well Advertised.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—"I swear by Louisiana people and Louisiana bear," said President Roosevelt to several Louisiana editors, headed by State Superintendent J. B. Aswell, when they called on the President at the White House last week.

Mr. Aswell returned today and told the story.

"We want you to know, Mr. President," said the editors, "that you came to Louisiana last October during an off season for bear and that our State did not have a fair deal on the hunt program."

"That's all right," replied the President. "I saw plenty of big tracks, and I am convinced that my coming was too widely heralded and that bruin had ample warning."

WIFE RELENTS AS HUSBAND FACES TRIAL AS PRISONER

Woman Hounds Helpmeet Until He Is Indicted, Then Declares Belief in Innocence.

CHICAGO, March 2.—On the eve of the trial of Seaton W. Sangster, a commercial traveler, charged with having attempted to kill his wife and young daughter by sending them poisoned candy, the accusing wife, Lina E. Sangster, on whose testimony Sangster was indicted, declared that she believes it was a woman's hand that filled the candy with arsenic. She believes her husband to be innocent.

Assistant State's Attorney Day said last night that he expected to have Sangster convicted. But at the eleventh hour the wife of the accused man, who had pursued him until the grand jury indicted him, declared her belief in his innocence.

In 1906, Mrs. Sangster brought suit against a wealthy widow of Jacksonville, Ill., for alienation of the affections of her husband. She lost the suit in the lower court, but on appeal the Supreme Court remanded it for retrial.

SHUBERTS TO REOPEN GARRICK; DAN FISCHELL TO MANAGE IT

Split With Klaw & Erlanger Expected Soon and Independents Prepare for Action.

In a letter written by J. J. Shubert to a St. Louis man interested in local theatricals, the announcement is made that the Shuberts will soon resume control of the Garrick Theater here and run it next season as a first-class dramatic house.

The letter confirms the likelihood of the reorganization of the independent movement, of which the Shuberts were the head, and a consequent renewal of the fight with the old Theater Trust that was thought to have been terminated by the merger of the Shubert interests with those of Klaw & Erlanger, leaders of the trust organization.

The provocation for this realignment of the independent forces is said to be the dissatisfaction of the Shuberts with the trust's booking of their attractions, the fact that the theaters owned or controlled by them were rapidly losing prestige under the unsatisfactory conditions created by the merger.

It is believed that the work of reorganizing the independents is now under way in New York, and that the Shuberts, Harrison Grey Fiske, David Belasco and Walter N. Lawrence will be the more prominent members of the independent alliance.

It is likely that Dan S. Fishell will again be manager of the Garrick Theater under Shubert control. It is known that J. J. Shubert has issued instructions for the Garrick to be put into first-class shape by May 1, and that it will be redecorated before its opening for the regular season beginning next September.

LEMONS ARE PASSED TO ADVOCATES OF KINDLINESS

Philosopher Who Would Abolish Suicide Pelted When Makes Speech on Street.

Albert Sullivan, a philosophical tailor, living at 1307 Market street, was bespattered with lemons when he attempted to praise the sweetness of the milk of human kindness before an impromptu audience of urchins at Grand and Easton avenues Sunday afternoon.

The tailor withstood a shower of lemons, eggs and stones for half an hour before condescending to take refuge on a passing car. A few days ago he told before Chief Creecy his plans for abolishing suicide by persuading everyone to be kind to everybody else.

Uncle Josh at Bowe's Famous Pie Shop.

The other day a man named Joshua Simpkins came to town
To buy his loving wife a Sunday meeting gown;
He came into Bowe's Pie Bakery with a dollar in his pants,
And he said, "Upon a Pie I guess I'll take a chance.

"Now, calico is cheap," said he. I guess I'll spend a dime,
Enjoy myself while I am here and have a real good time.
Just hand me out the best you got," and that is the reason why
I handed to the rube a nice fresh Famous Bowe's Raisin Pie.

"What kind of Pie do you call this? It's jolly good," he said.
And when I told him Bowe's Raisin Pie he slowly shook his head.
"Down home we are raising cabbages and pumpkin by the score,
But durned if I ever heard of Raisin Pie before."

He ate and ate and ate and ate and all his money spent,
And when his last Pie was gone, out from the Bakery he went.
Said he, "I am full of Bowe's Raisin Pie and, though it is sad to tell,
When I get home I'll bet my wife will go to raisin h——."

BONANZA BILL'S "DELIBERATION."

Bonanza Bill's mining associate, J. A. Norton, in writing his letter of protest presumably in the interest of Bonanza Bill, inadvertently throws some additional light on that statesman's intimacy with and knowledge of the so-called "Nome" mining scheme.

Says Norton: "I assisted in the organization of the Nome Gold Dredging and Power Co. Subsequently this proposition was by me submitted to Senator Stone, and after some weeks of deliberation he purchased stock in the company, and afterwards was elected as a director."

"After some weeks of deliberation," then, and not on the spur of impulse or the whim of the moment did Bonanza Bill lend his name and influence to the get-rich-conservative plan that promised 200 per cent a year to investors, if Norton is to be believed.

Bonanza thought about it, then; he brought his great faculties to bear upon it in leisurely manner; he reflected; he weighed its pros and cons; he gave his mind to it waking, and sleeping he may have dreamed about it also. As a critic once said of Bonanza Bill himself, "You can't expect a statesman to eat snow and sleep under a fence-rail merely because he is a statesman." And we may fairly assume that this statesman had some very alluring dreams in which wealth and luxury beckoned him across the golden fields of El Dorado.

At any rate, he deliberated for weeks and finally succumbed; with his eyes wide open he gave himself to be capitalized along with the other great assets, and knowingly, deliberately, and, one had almost said, with malice aforethought, he allowed his imposing name to go on a prospectus offering to the public a return of $1000 a year for 44 years in exchange for the sum of $500 in mere and immediate or tangible money.

Seeing how long he deliberated on this proposition everybody will be more than ever convinced of its exceptional character.

REFORM IN ANARCHY.

Preaching anarchy under the lid of a promise to say nothing offensive and with 15 or 20 policemen present to see that the agreement is observed, must be tame business to a representative of the proletariat who has once tasted the delights of fire eating and blood drinking with plenty of beer on the side.

The authorities of the various cities occasionally visited by Emma Goldman have learned at last how to deal with her. There is no suppression of free speech. Nothing but daggers and bombs and their verbal representatives are interdicted.

By such means anarchistic meetings are made as innocuous as tea parties and Mme. Goldman goes to Jail no oftener than other people.

A QUESTION OF CONFIDENCE.

The latest from Lincoln, Neb., is to the effect that the country is suffering today from lack of confidence in the banks.

With Mr. Roosevelt casting suspicion upon other business and industrial activities, and Mr. Bryan preaching distrust of banks, Prosperity may linger in the lap of Suspicion for a few months longer.

There is one good thing about the banks, anyway. They are not dealing in 50-cent money, either going or coming.

If there was as much confidence in our political chieftains as there is in the banks, business conditions would be much better than they are.

POLITICS AND PUBLIC OPINION.

"Public opinion never stopped racing in Missouri; it was politics," says a horse breeder.

That is what Dan Naughton says about his conviction as accessory to House of Delegates bribery. "Nothing but politics."

So the people who are being put out of the saloon business in scores of Missouri counties. "Public opinion has nothing to do with it. It is politics."

Strange, is it not, that people take such comfort in laying their woes to politics? Is politics a bigger man than public opinion? Are they not one and the same?

PUSHING THE BRIDGE CASE.

Mr. Chester H. Krum, special counsel for the Government in the suit to dissolve the Bridge and Terminal Trust, rushes excitedly into print in numerous places to show that he knows exactly what the proceedings should be and will be in this case.

As all that he has said is elementary and not in conflict with anything that has appeared in these columns, the Post-Dispatch felicitates him on the fact and urges him and his associates to try their cause not in the newspapers, but in the courts.

The Bridge Trust prosecution has been altogether too listless, and Attorney-General Bonaparte used the prod none too soon. He may have to apply it again.

Congress would feel neglected if a day went by without a message from the White House. The reason Congress cannot legislate is because its sessions are chiefly consumed by the reading clerk.

THE SINS OF THE RAILROADS.

The president of an Eastern railway company practically advises all who are engaged in the transportation business to put their houses in order, as, in his opinion, both of the great political parties will this year make the sins of the railroads the leading campaign issue.

Evidence on every hand goes to show that the sins of the railroads are not what they were a few years ago. No attempt was then made to enforce the laws. Favoritism in the various forms of rebating was almost universal. There were men like Paul Morton who admitted the evil and pleaded helplessness.

Not only was there discrimination in rates, but there was partiality in a dozen other ways. Some men could get cars and others could not. Some freight was handled expeditiously while in other cases it was sidetracked and "lost." One man found an embargo upon his business, while his neighbor or competitor enjoyed excellent service. A blight fell upon some sections while other sections rolled in prosperity.

There were two classes of railway offenders, one small and the other large. There were the exploiters and high financiers, like Harriman, in one group and the other comprehended most of the managing men among the officers of the various roads.

In the old days of the "gentlemen's agreements" it was found that railway managers would not keep faith with each other. They soon made no pretense of keeping faith with their customers. The sins of the railroads were well-nigh unbearable before much was said about them. So much has been done by the nation and by the states of late that it may be held with truth that the transportation business is more honestly conducted today than it ever was before. It has been revolutionized.

It has cost the railroads and the people a great deal to learn this lesson, but if it shall prove to have been well learned; if the colossal and the petty villainies so long practiced have been eradicated, and if a higher sense of responsibility and honor has been established all along the line in railway management, the experience, dear as it has been, will be cheap at the price.

There is one way by which the men who control the railroads can easily draw the teeth of further harmful political agitation, and that is by maintaining their good behavior. If the sins of the railroads are all in the past, no political party can profit much by assailing them.

PULLETS AND PUNITIVE DAMAGES.

The other day one of Judge Rule's thoughtful juries assessed $1 actual and $500 punitive damages against a hasty young man for that he had in a fit of temper called a lady bookkeeper "an old hen."

Beyond referring to age, he did not particularize what sort of hen, whether ruffled grouse hen, peahen, goshawk, turkey, hen pheasant, hen eagle, hen canary or hen clam; and the philosophic jury, through some ratiocination of its own, came to the conclusion that he meant the domestic or barnyard variety. Nothing was said about an angry or perturbed hen, or a wet one. And since there is nothing upon which invidiousness may seize in mere poultry or the sex of the industrious and highly respected bird of produce, we naturally conclude that the only slander consisted of the designation of age.

The inference is legitimate that it would not be slanderous to call a young lady, bookkeeper or otherwise, a pulchritudinous pullet, between which and superannuated poultry there is a world of difference. Here is no suggestion of moulting decrepitude, but a hint of all that is sweet, tender and attractive—especially a little later in spring. Indeed, "broiler" has come to be a much advertised term of youthful beauty, both in the descriptions of debutantes' parties and on theatrical bill posters, as Judge Rule and his jury may have observed in passing.

In any event, they are much to be commended, in our opinion, for a wise judgment which takes into account the fundamental vanities of human nature and, among others, that tough old age is the tenderest of subjects. It gives proper warning to rude young men not to wound sensitive years anywhere in the scale, and that rather than overstate a lady's youth in such manner it would be safer to err on the side of calling her a downy chick.

HOW MUCH MORE GRAFT IS THERE?

Three ugly scandals of Republican administration have broken out within a few days past.

Graft in submarine boat contracts is indicated by the discussion in the House of Representatives.

Graft charges have been sustained by investigation of the office or department of the Public Printer.

These outcroppings have an extra significance, both because, while spontaneous, they seem to be coming thick and fast, and because they occur in a critical period of politics. How much housecleaning does the reform administration and the home of "My Policies" require?

Mr. Bryan wails that Ryan is using money to beat him. Then why not fight the devil with fire, as of old? In past campaigns Mr. Bryan used up several hundred thousands of ammunition procured from the silver mine owners. Have the mines petered out, or is Mr. Bryan merely a bit more squeamish than he used to be?

Paris has a new law which requires chauffeurs, on pain of punishment, to stop automobiles after an accident. Paris must have lost both its sense of humor and its philosophy, since this law resembles a threat from a pursuing parent with a switch which only good boys undeserving of punishment would heed.

Federal Judge Grosscup will not have to stand trial for the Charleston, Ill., trolley wreck, a brother judge having quashed the indictment. If Grosscup would now get out of the railroad business he might have more time to attend to his judicial duties.

The four worthy colored men who have been elected alternate delegates at large to the Republican National Convention from Missouri will know what it means to sit in the rear and chew gum while the superior persons are up in front eating turkey.

The more offices Hadley is mentioned for, the more trusts he declares war upon. Unless he is nominated for something pretty soon he will be at war with the entire monopolistic world.

Japan is on the verge of war with China. Instead of bullying us, we are relieved to see her picking on somebody her own size.

The Government carefully prevents Emma Goldman from railing at wealth. That privilege is reserved exclusively for another.

Persons interested in United States senatorial primaries will take notice that the man who won in Kentucky also lost.

The Black Hand appears to possess a fair sense of the absurd when it tries to get money out of an Italian count.

The forthcoming Ohio Republican platform should be orthodox, for it was written in the White House.

The versatility of Capt. Pickel suggests 57 varieties.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Navy as a Reformatory.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The ignorance of most people in our inland states in regard to our navy is best shown by an article in your issue of Thursday, Feb. 20, 1908, in which a Mrs. Annie Patterson is quoted as recommending her son be committed to a reformatory unless he is willing to enlist in the navy. It is a shame that our navy is thought a refuge for criminals and others of bad character. Men and boys of that stamp succeed in enlisting in the navy, but it does not take the officials long to ferret them out, when they are immediately discharged from a service which is composed of honorable men only.

FRED W. HENSELMEIER.

Bakery Inspection.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I herewith have a few suggestions to make regarding to the baker shop law: First, the city says not to have cats around. Will the city furnish each baker with a man to catch the rats or mice? Second, to send out men that use a little better judgment about inspecting a place. I was in a place this morning just after the inspector left. The people that owned the place scrub their shop every two months, and scratch up the flour every morning. The inspector told them to scrub more. If he called that a dirty floor he didn't know what one looks like, or else he wanted to show that he was an inspector. If all the baker shops would be as clean as those owned by Germans the city wouldn't have to kick. This is only to benefit the wholesale bakers, or in plain words the trust. They are trying to close out the small shops in order to sell more broomstraw bread. In some of the small shops they bake better goods, more cleaner goods, than in the wholesale places.

THE OTHER SIDE.

One View of Prohibition.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We have 22 breweries here, each employing, say, 1500 people, which makes an average total of 33,000 employes. We have 2400 saloons, each saloon having one bartender or more, some having four or five, say all told 2500 men, without counting the proprietors. The breweries and saloons then employ some 35,500 people, without counting saloon porters. We will say the breweries pays on a total average $3000 per year city taxes, a total of $66,000; the saloon keeper, $2 per day or $700 a year city license, making $16,800 per year. The breweries and saloons then pay into the city treasury $82,800 a year. That much cut off from our city income must come from somewhere. Where? Why, from the property owners for increased taxes. How will they pay it? Easy! They will raise your rent. Now, where are all these people going to find work? There is 35,500 of them. Then the proprietors will not go out looking for manual labor. What will he do? He will simply engage in other business, thus bringing more competition into the ranks of the already full grocers, butchers, restaurants and what-nots.

WILLIAM TABLER.

Government by Commission.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

One of the latest fads of those reformers who bring forward various and sundry schemes for the rehabilitation of capitalist society is the proposed government of cities by a commission which would dispense with the separate executive, judicial and legislative departments and unite all these functions of municipal administration in a commission or board of directors who would conduct the municipal corporation in much the same way that the directors run a private corporation. This amounts to nothing more or less than an effort to get rid of popular interference with the little schemes that such a commission would want to put through from time to time. The plan meets with the approval of the ruling class generally, for it would materially simplify matters and make the ownership of the directorate, or their purchase, easier to effect. It is safe to predict that no intelligent, well-informed person will be taken in by such bait, that has a good look at first sight, but will not bear close inspection. It's just as well, anyhow, to pass up all the so-called reforms. There's not one in the whole aggregation that can possibly be of any permanent benefit to the man who works.

Most Women Marry for Love.

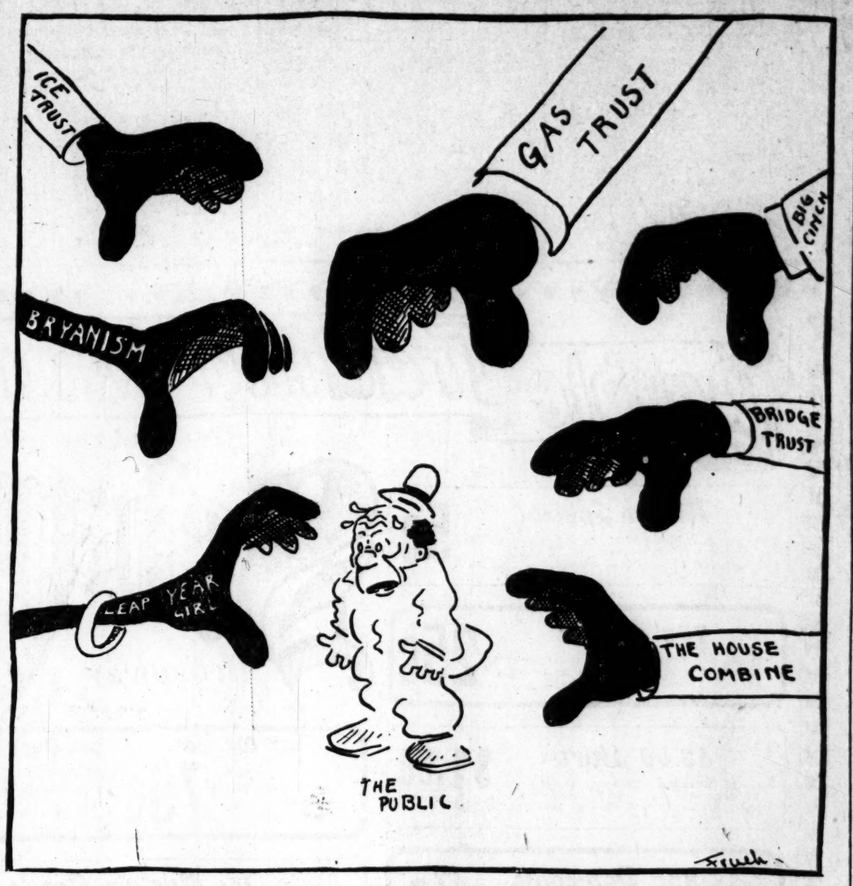

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In reply to "Bachelor" in Tuesday's paper, "Do Women Marry for Love?" More women marry for love than for any other reason; but there are women of many degrees of intelligence and refinement and it is only a woman of very low order of moral and intellectual development, no matter what her station in society, who marries for any other reason than love. To woman love is the dearest treasure and most coveted gift of life, and what will she sacrifice for love? Everything but honor. And what will she accept in place of love? Will she say, "I cannot marry the one I love, therefore I shall marry another without love?" No, that is man's argument. If a woman cannot marry her loved one she will cover up her aching heart with a brave exterior and meet life and its duties with a smile. She will not forget but she will turn to useful work and various tasks. They do not fill the void, but they are a far better substitute than an unloved husband. Does a man act thus? Sometimes he does, but generally he does not. He argues that if he cannot marry the girl he loves he will marry for other reasons than love. And what are his "other reasons?" Sometimes money, or it may be ambition, often because he wants a family; the latter reason is the most important one why he should not marry a woman whom he does not love, for what are the children of a loveless marriage? They may be fine physical specimens, fine animals—but they are loveless and cold. They cannot give to their parents what the parents did not give to each other—love.

But there are many strata of feeling and development so there are representatives of every strata in the reasons why women marry.

WILD MEN WANTED.

B. L. Hawkins of Newfield, N. Y., probably a student interested in politics from the psychic point of view, has written the Postmaster at Brookfield, Mo., for "the names and addresses of two or three respectable cowboys."

It is ten to one that the Professor is analyzing the Bryan movement, and thinks in this way to get into communication with the Bryan leaders in the vicinity of Brookfield.

His clew is a good one, but he is sadly unfamiliar with the march of events. There are wild men left in Missouri, but they are not cowboys. The cowboy is an extinct Missouri type.

However, the Postmaster at Brookfield will scarce take advantage of the Professor's ignorance of the West. He has doubtless already forwarded the names of two of three Bryan leaders of the Brookfield vicinity.

HIS IMPRESSION.

"John, you are so boorish that Mary's admirer is afraid to speak to you about her?"

"Well, I'll swear I can't get enthusiastic over him."

"Why?"

"Blest if I know. I think it must be his socks."

"Why, he wears very beautiful hosiery."

"Glad to hear it. I thought his legs were tattooed."

A SIGN.

"You live in the suburbs, don't you?"

"How did you know?"

"I've noticed you hanging around that seed store for the past two weeks."

A TABLE SHADOW.

"Did you enjoy your Sunday dinner?"

"I did when I could get my mind off the cost of it."

"I'll tell my wife 'twash good comp'ny kep' me out late."

"Yesh, thash all right for you; but can you suggest what I am goin' to tell my wife?"

BALLAD OF THE PRESIDENTIAL RACE.

Or if he really has a few more arrows for his trusty bow—
And if he still intends to go into the last big fight for blood,
As if, alas, he did not know already his proud name is Mud?

Say where the wily Cannon gets the least look-in upon the plum?
And if, the while his swift sun sets, his fond supporters groweth dumb—
Or if his bee sometimes will hum, in spite of all unkind events
That make his boom look like the sum of 23 and 7 cents?

Where does the grisly-visaged Hughes, and what hope dwelleth in his breast?
Or is it that he has the blues, and falters in the luckless quest—
And what thoughts has he oft' addressed to Roosevelt, and roundly cussed,
For putting Taft above the rest, and giving them the giant's dust?

L'ENVOI.

Postmasters, marshals, revenue clerks, Government forces high and low—
Really the whole durn Federal works—pity for Cannon, Hughes & Co.

The Henpeck Size.

"I want some collars for my husband," said a lady in a department store, "but I am afraid I have forgotten the size."

"Thirteen and a half, ma'am?" suggested the clerk.

"That's it. How on earth did you know?"

"Gentlemen who let their wives buy their collars for 'em are almost always about that size, ma'am," exclaimed the observant clerk.—Everybody's Magazine.

Involved.

Binks: I notice that you have a thread tied round your finger. I suppose that is to remind you of something.

Jinks: Not exactly. It is to remind my wife to ask me if I forgot something she told me to remember.—Harper's Weekly.

A Good Habit.

Baby Florence was much annoyed when her requests to go to see her little cousin, who was ill, were refused. On demanding the reason, the "catching" qualities of her cousin's malady were explained at length, but to no avail, for she drew herself up to her infinitesimal height, and slowly and scornfully lisped, "I theldom take the measles."—Lippincott's.

The Problem Solved.

"Life here has its drawbacks," said the visitor to the cannibal isle, "but nevertheless I notice that you are not bothered by the servant problem as we have it in the civilized world."

"We settled all that long ago," smiled the king easily. "We made it a rule that when a cook quits work she shall be cooked and served by her successor."—Lippincott's.

A GOOD FELLOW

BY IVAN WHIN

WHEN Josefa joined the office staff of Hustler Brothers, jobbers in everything, she was thin and young and frightened. The office seems chaotic to a novice, its organization is complex, there are many men and women, there are many departments, many typewriters, many persons going and coming whose connection with the work is not readily understood. The typewriting she had to do was different from the commercial college exercises, even the machine was different.

She was put on billing and used a long machine which is fed with paper at the bottom and the type plick-plucks down upon the sheet and there are several levers for spacing the parts of a bill. Other girls worked at hurricane speed and Josefa could only work very slowly. The man in whose charge she was wasted few words in explanation of her duties and she thought him curt. She feared she could not do the work to his satisfaction and she hates failure.

Later, when she was expert in her work and confident and the office had systematized itself in her mind, she lost the frightened look. Gradually her face filled and her form became plumper, though her intensity of spirit warred with flesh.

Jensen always jollies the girls. He is big, past 40, actively conversational and full of that freedom traveling men acquire. He jollied Josefa and when she got the measure of her surroundings she answered brightly.

One day she was called upon to make a tabulation for Jensen, typing neatly a scrawl of figures he had prepared for a report suddenly demanded by the old man. It was a rush job, as it had to be on the old man's desk the next morning.

Josefa worked till 7 o'clock and Jensen remained to verify. They were alone in the great office, save for the janitors, scrubwomen and Keating, who toiled over his books.

When she finished Jensen said: "And now we'll have dinner. Come on."

She was tired and hungry. The prospect of a dinner in a downtown restaurant was alluring, but the maiden in her, all her training rose in protest and refusal.

"Oh, I can't," she exclaimed. "Thank you, Mr. Jensen, but I can't go to dinner with you."

"Huh! Nonsense. Come on, Kid."

Jensen made nothing of her protest. He assumed the masterful with a touch of the fatherly and she went with him, though still protesting.

They dined at McTague's. She liked the pretty lights, the gay gowns of the women and the music. She hardly knew that she ate of the food Jensen ordered. She was exhilerated and warm color flooded her cheeks.

At the end of the dinner he ordered a liqueur. It was like violets to the eye and in fragrance. She sipped it slowly, assured that it was not intoxicating. It warmed her throat deliciously.

Then they went home. She told her mother all about it, bubbling with enthusiasm. Mrs. Mauntan saw no harm in the episode, but repeated old warnings and Josefa laughed.

She was growing pretty then. Bailey, the cashier, noticed that. He is a bachelor, rotund, bald. He is friends with all the girls, some of whom have accepted his attentions.

Bailey asked Josefa to dine with him and go to the theater. She accepted eagerly. She accounted him as safe as Jensen.

He ordered cocktails before the dinner was served. She tasted hers and made a wry face.

"Oh, drink it and be a good fellow," said Bailey.

She swallowed a mouthful that burnt her throat. He laughed at her shiver and urged that she be a good fellow, be a sport.

"I'll show you my heart's in the right place," she said, repeating a phrase other girls had used, and finished the cocktail.

Presently she became giddy, but she liked the sensation. Her cheeks flamed and she laughed loudly. Bailey told such funny stories. When the food came the effect of alcohol diminished and when she reached the outer air on the way to the theater the effect vanished. In the theater she experienced a strange depression. She had no interest in the play and was stifled by the close atmosphere.

Bailey noticed her pallor and said:

"We'll cut it out if you don't feel well."

She was glod to leave at the end of the second act. Once in the street she felt better. Her spirits rose.

"It was the bad air and heat," she said. "I feel all right now."

"Then let's go to Faust's; I want a drink and a smoke," Bailey suggested. "You won't object to the smoke?"

"O, no," and feeling that she had spoiled his evening readily consented to go.

He ordered a sweet for her and a highball for himself. She trifled with it as they talked. "Do you know," she exclaimed confidentially, "I'd like something Mr. Jensen gave me? It was in a very little glass and smelled like violets."

Bailey ordered the liqueur. She sipped at it and chattered. He ordered other highballs for himself and another violent scent for her.

"Say," he remarked, "you're a mighty good fellow. I like a girl with no nonsense about her. Say, there's Ed Grennan and Madgie Powell. Let's ask them over?"

It was shockingly late when in Grennan's automobile Josefa reached home. She was flushed and excited; she hoped her mother would not notice. Mother woke for the briefest space and paid little heed when assured that Josefa was safe.

In the morning she felt ill, but hid it. "What time was it when you got home?" mother asked.

"I don't know. The play was long." That was the end of it.

She worked under a strain all day. Bailey smiled at her from his cage and waved his hand. She smiled wanly and nodded.

Youth and a night's sleep put a different color on the world. She told some of the girls of her outing and Bailey's "swell society friends" and the auto ride.

Bailey laughed unctiously. "Nice girl and a thorough good fellow," he said. "No nonsense about her."

Grennan called her on the telephone. "I say, Miss Mauntan, we want you to go out for a little trip this evening. Just three in the party, Miss Powell, you and myself. My machine is small, or I'd ask Bailey. We were crowded, you know, the other evening. Will you go?"

She hesitated not at all. Certainly she would go, and did.

After dinner at the Planters they ran out to Busch's sedately. In a smelly room they sat for an hour and chatted lazily over glasses. Madge drank a highball, but Josefa would take nothing. She made great fun trying to smoke a cigarette. Grennan and Madge gave voluminous instructions and Madge set a nonchalant example.

They ran back to the city at terrific speed. Madge demanded that Grennan slow down. She was frightened.

"Be a sport," he cried back at her, barely turning his goggled face. "Miss Mauntan isn't kicking. She's the real artic'e."

Josefa was frightened, but after that she would not show it. Even when the wheels slushed along the wheels of a market gardener's wagon she did not scream.

They stopped at a place on King's highway, a dull, dead place. There were lights only in the front of the building as they rolled up the roadway. As the sound of their honk penetrated the building doors opened and electric lights flashed.

They entered a deserted banquet hall. Some negroes entered with musical instruments and played without invitation; they sang stridently.

Urged by Madge to drink a toddy Josefa took it and finding it bearable took more. She grew wildly happy.

A rotund man of beaming countenance entered the room and she recognized Bailey. With a cry of delight she rushed forward, almost embraced him and dragged him to their table where Grennan and Madge grinned welcome.

"Good old Bailey," Grennan shouted. "I knew I only had to telephone who's here to bring you."

"Sure you are," said Bailey. "She's my partner."

He winked at Josefa, who sang "Comrades forever in peace and in war."

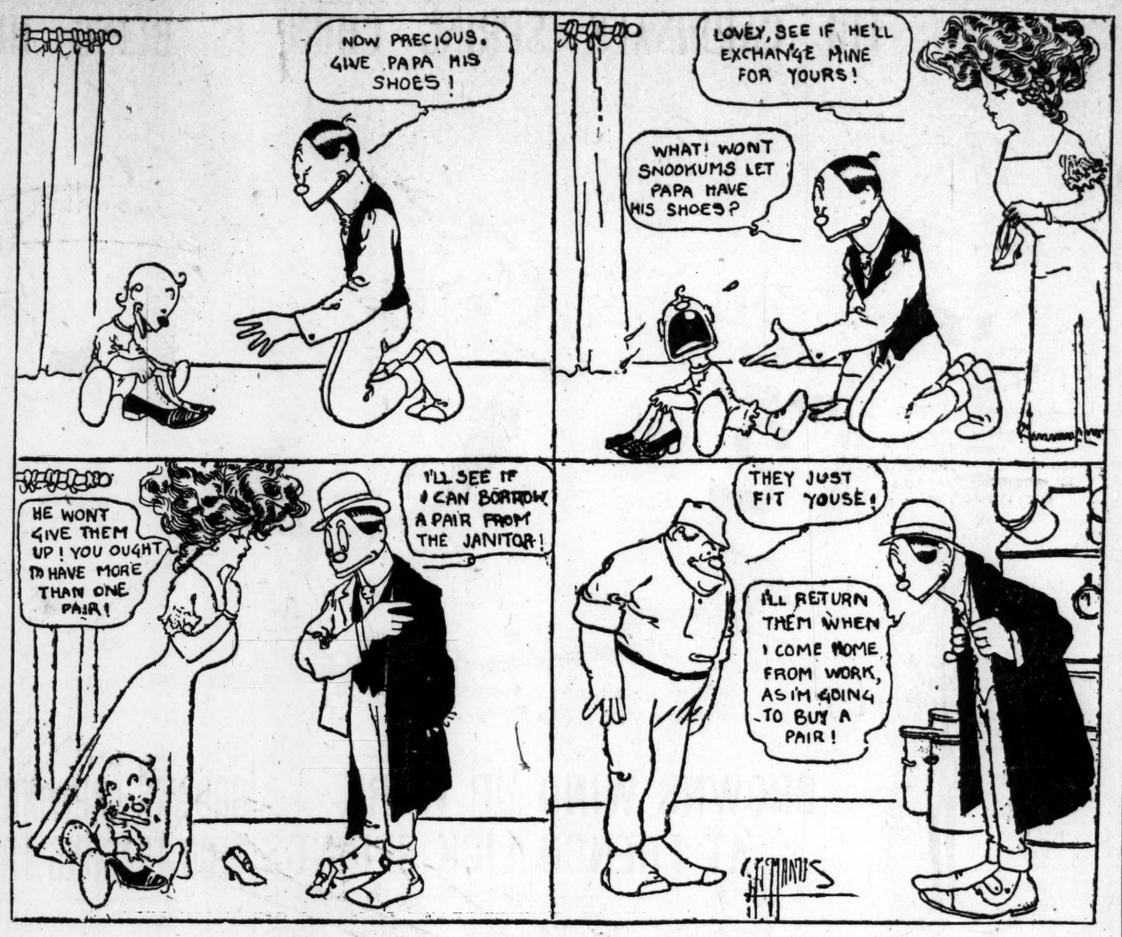

"Pretty voice," said Madge aside to Bailey.

"Beautiful," he agreed. "Here you boys, play something we can sing."

THE MONEY VALUE OF EDUCATION.

Every Parent Who Sends His Children to School Gives Them an Inheritence That Is Here Figured in Dollars.

THE Dodge County Banner of Mayville, Wis., which is edited by Dr. Hans Forkman, well known in turner circles and among liberal-minded people generally, contains the following convincing argument in favor of giving children the full benefits of an education at school:

Many parents take their children from school and keep them at home perhaps only one, perhaps several days, on the slightest provocation. In many cases the scholars are taken out for good as soon as the parents have an opportunity to secure them permanent work at a compensation amounting to only a few cents a day. This may be excusable in cases of extreme poverty, but what we desire to call attention to is the fact that many grown people have no conception or appreciation of the value of every day's schooling to the child, aside from its worth in dollars and cents.

Take your pencil and see what we get from a little conservative figuring.

The unskilled laborer earns, let us say, about $1.50 a day, on the average. He works, say, 40 years, and every year 300 days, which would bring him $18,000.

The educated man earns, on an average, about $1000 a year, which in 40 years would net him $40,000.

Substract $18,000 from $40,000 and we get $22,000. This sum, $22,000, therefore, represents the money value of the time spent by a boy in acquiring an education at school.

The time required for a thorough schooling is, say, 11 years—from the beginning of the age of 6 to the 17th year—and if every school year has 200 days, the boy would receive 2200 days of schooling.

If we divide $22,000, the value of the school education, by 2200, the number of days spent at school, the result is $10. In other words, every day in school is worth $10 to the scholar.

Ten dollars a day! Think of it, scholars. Think of it, parents, and even though you yourselves could not attend school the full 2200 days, your children should not be deprived of a good school education. You can leave them no better, no greater inheritance and they will feel grateful to you when thy have earned the fruits of your bounty.

EARLY BRIDAL ORNAMENTS.

FROM the earliest times white was the uniform color for a virgin bride, and three ornaments were worn by her on her way to the altar. These were the rings on her fingers, the brooch on her breast, and the garland on her head, the first being typical of the endlessness of matrimonial love, the brooch signifying maidenly innocence, while the garland was the reward accorded to her for having successfully resisted the temptations to evil that had beset her course from childhood to matrimony. No widow on her remarriage might wear a garland, nor could any bride whose reputation had suffered from her own lightness of conduct. The garlands were mostly composed of roses and myrtle, and the hair was generally worn in loose tresses to the altar, in token of her freedom but on laying aside her virgin crown the newly made bride bound up her hair, significant of her subjection to a husband.

"MOLEOSOPHY" IS LONDON'S LATEST.

Your Fate Told by Moles.

JUST now "moleosophy" has the call in London. It consists of reading one's character and foretelling one's future by the moles one may possess. A mole in the center of a woman's brow indicates a happy, unclouded existence and the prospect of inheriting money. She may not be beautiful, but she will have talent and write plays or compose music, and acquire riches thereby; but she will possess a caustic tongue and have few friends. She is advised to wear sapphires, presumably if she can afford them, and is seriously warned against marrying a gentleman with a mole under his right eye.

The lady with one mole on the right brow and another just below the right lower rib is sure to marry a foreigner, who will be a devoted and faithful husband.

The man with the mole on the left brow and another just under the left shoulder blade, if the mole be black, is condemned to endure a sentence of imprisonment.

A young man about to marry should avoid the lady with a mole on the left brow, because this may denote "a great jealousy when she is past 30, which will make her most furious, with a desire to kill her own husband."

The man with a mole on the left brow and another on the left wrist will have a peevish nature; the lady with the same combination is in danger of death from a contagious disease.

If a lady have a mole on the lower corner of her left eye, she must be very careful of the eleventh and nineteenth days of the winter months. She should wear rubies.

The gentleman who has a mole on the bride of his nose should be very careful what he eats.

THE SCHOOLBOY BRAIN.

ONE of the most substantial and genuine of delights for those of humorous appreciation consists in a study of the answers made by schoolgirls and schoolboys in examination papers. A writer in Harper's Weekly has collected a new batch of these, of which the following specimens are among the most choice: "Blood consists of two kinds of corkscrews—red corkscrews and white corkscrews." Asked to explain what a buttress is, one boy replied: "A woman who makes butter." One pupil defined primate as "the wife of a prime minister." "Gravity was discovered by Isaac Walton. It is chiefly noticeable in the autumn, when the apples are falling from the trees."

SMOKING CAR COMPLIMENTS.

AT a dinner the Bishop of London told a story about one of his predecessors. "When Dr. Creighton was Bishop of London," he said, "he rode on a train one day with a small, meek curate. Dr. Creighton, an ardent lover of tobacco, soon took out his cigar case and said: 'You don't mind my smoking, I suppose?' The meek, pale little curate bowed and answered humbly: 'Not if Your Lordship doesn't mind my being sick.'"

VERY CONSIDERATE.

From Everybody's Magazine.

"Fool!" exclaimed a fop at his club, throwing down the morning paper. "Jones, you voted for Roosevelt. Won't you admit now that he's made a pretty bad mess of things trying to mix in on Wall Street?"

"Well," said Jones advisedly, "that seems to be the general impression that prevails among the masses."

"I'll have you understand, sir, that I am not one of the masses!"

"I know that," yawned Jones, getting up. "I prefixed the 'm' merely out of consideration for your feelings."

THE MUFFER.

From the Dallas News.

No girl ever really forgives the young man who muffs the first kiss she throws at him.

THE BOWERY VIEWPOINT.

Owen Kildare in Uncle Remus Magazine.

After catching a car you feel foolish for having run after it. It's the same with love after you catch up with it in marriage.

In love you dance to music, in marriage you face it.

The milk of human kindness is most often condensed.

You can't hide love or a bad cough.

You don't have to pump the organ to find out all the church gossip.

MEN'S FADS.

JUST what fashion is to a woman, a fad is to a man. By taking up a fad your most ordinary man, flat in mind, heart and conduct, becomes a character. Perhaps he goes in for teetotalism. As an ordinary citizen he is altogether mild. As a teetotaler, he becomes rabid and assaults your views, however inferior may be his status. He has taken on a new personality.

Any fad, and especially some of the popular "antis," are to a man what a gown made by Worth is to a woman. It "styles" him at once on step No. 15 or 18 of the social ladder, the top of which is 30. It allows him to talk at public meetings, to laud or condemn some of the biggest men of his country. It is equivalent to a high order.

He has a new personality.

He is now two somebodies—one nobody, the other somebody. It is even so with hobbies. Lawyers the world over get so intensely tired of aridity and unsatisfactory character of their profession that they gladly try to put on an entirely new man by practicing music, botany or the like as a hobby. As a lawyer he is an organized bully; as a hobbyist he is a sweet, kind personality.

CARDINALS ARE READY TO BEGIN GLAD NEW YEAR

Local National Leaguers to Start Monday Night for Spring Training Camp at Houston.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

A CARLOAD of Cardinals will leave St. Louis Monday night for Houston, Tex., to begin the practice that every fan in the city hopes will raise the team to the first division in the fight of the National League clubs this summer. Full of hope and enthusiasm the squad will depart, for there is not a one among them who does not expect improvement for the year.

Manager John J. McCloskey is the cheer master of them all. President Robison is just as hopeful, but less expressive. Both wil go on the trip to see that everything is done to put the local club in condition for the first battle of the year.

The team will depart over the Illinois Central Sunday night at 9 o'clock, and if the schedules of the Southern trains are not too badly mixed the boys will take practice on the Houston diamond Wednesday afternoon. There will be about 18 players leave the city Monday night. Three men are already there, and four or five more will go directly from their homes to the training camp. McCloskey expects 25 men in action before the week is out, and is sure he is going to see a lot of live material in that number.

ALL day Sunday the players were arriving and all were met by McCloskey and Robison at the Southern Hotel. Among the number were a few of the recruits who have not been seen before in St. Louis. Charles Ashenbach, known only as Charles, who comes from the Tri-State League, attracted as much attention as any of them, and McCloskey is sure he has picked up a youngster in this man who will be fast enough for the big league right from the start.

John House, the Indian, who performed up in Wisconsin last season, is also a likely candidate for a position with the big fellows, and William Ludwig, the husky catcher secured only a couple of weeks ago from Springfield, Ill., appears to have the make-up of a backstop of major league proportions.

A LIST of the men who will take the train Monday night for the South follows: Outfielders, Murray, House and Shaw; infielders, Konetchey, O'Rourke and Charles; pitchers, McGlynn, Lush, Fromme, Sallee, Murphy, Raymond and Rhoades; catchers, Marshall, Boucher and Ludwig.

Byrne, Hostetter and Beebe have already departed for the Texas camp. Delehanty will go from Hot Springs, where he has been for more than a week. Karger will go to Houston direct from his Texas home and Catcher Bliss will come from California direct to Houston.

The first disappointment for McCloskey came Sunday when he received word from Billy Gilbert, the new second baseman, formerly with the New York Giants, that it would not be possible for him to join the team for a week or two. Gilbert's father died Saturday at his home in Trenton, N. J., and Billy passed through the city last night on his way home to attend the funeral. Gilbert had been in Hot Springs for two weeks preparing for the training season and was enthusiastic over the prospects of the team. Now he will not get down to work for nearly two weeks.

THE training trip of the Cardinals promises to be about the most eventful of any of the National Leaguers. The spice of the Southern journey will be furnished by a series of six games with the Washington club of the American League. As both of these teams were tail-end clubs of the big leagues last season, the series may be said to be for the cellar championship. Nevertheless the games promise to be as exciting as July games in the pennant race.

Three of the games will be played at Houston and three at Galveston, the latter city being the training spot selected by Joe Cantillon and his lowly Senators. The first of these games will be played a week from next Saturday and for three Saturdays and three Sundays following, the two clubs will mix it up probably to the delight of the fans of these two cities.

THE Cardinals have also arranged to play games at both Dallas and Fort Worth on the way back to the North. They will then reach St. Louis about the second day of April and expect to be hardened and primed for the series with the Browns for the city championship.

The spring series here promises to be hotter this year than ever. The Browns are determined to have revenge for the beatings of last year and the Cardinals are just as determined to retain their prestige in the city by giving McAleer and his veterans another sound trimming. Fans may expect a genuine fight when the two clash.

THE CARDINALS SPRING CHIRP IS BEING HEARD

PACKEY TO FIGHT ON COAST MAR. 31

Chicago Lightweight Gets Date to Meet Winner of Britt-Nelson Battle.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Packey McFarland will meet the winner of the Britt-Nelson fight on March 31. The date for the engagement was definitely set yesterday, following an exchange of telegrams between Manager Harry Gilmore and Promoter Sam Berger, before whose club the match will be staged.

Manager Gilmore, following the settlement of the date question, decided to postpone the departure of Packey and himself for the coast. The pair had intended to go tonight, but have come to the conclusion that it would be wiser to wait until the battle between the Dane and the native son is over. The departure will therefore be made on Wednesday evening or Thursday morning.

BROWNS WIND UP WORK AT FRENCH LICK SPRINGS

McAleer and His Veterans Greatly Benefited by Training at the Watering Resort

FRENCH LICK, Ind., March 2.—The training at French Lick Springs ended today and the men showed the benefits derived from the water and training before they took the train back to St. Louis.

All this convinces Manager McAleer that it has not been a waste of time and money, and the same procedure is likely to prevail next year with the veterans and heavyweights.

There was really very little use in having Pelty and Howell here as both keep themselves in good condition and are not burdened with superfluous flesh. However, they are better for the change the water and the open air work.

"It seems to me," remarked Pitcher Harry Howell after reading of the abolition of the gloss from the league balls for the coming season, "as if this roughening of the balls will act as a sort of a boomerang. It may hit us spitball pitchers, and probably will until we individually devise some method for overcoming the handicap, but conquer it we will.

"On the other hand it may produce a wingy ball and if it does watch the batting figures drop and see the increased difficulty in fielding. All baseball players know that a new, glossy ball hit squarely on the nose will go at least fifty feet further than a wingy or grassed up ball.

"It may be that the rule makers will discover that one year of the roughened ball will cause a return to the old style.

"If these inventors who put in so much time inventing devices for indoor baseball work like batting cages, things to improve the hitting and pitching eyes, etc., would devote their attention to a succesful solution of one little athletic problem they would coin money," remarked Jack O'Connor, the veteran backstop.

"What do I mean? Why the finding of something that would eliminate the thirst which every athlete feels and which drives him to drink great quantities of water and consequently to increase his weight.

"I have tried everything that has been thought of by the wisdom of the ages, I do believe. I have cross-examined athletes of every sort, and their trainers, jockeys and runners, but not a scheme is worth anything. I have let two pebbles soak in water all night and then put them under my tongue the next day when taking road work and was just a thirsty as ever. I have had a lump of sugar sprinkled with phosphate, tried lemon peel and 57 other varieties of idiocy and not a one has done a thing.

"Let some bright mind stand forth and make his fortune."

BROWNS ARRIVING FOR TRAINING TRIP

Several members of the Browns ball club are expected to reach the city Monday and early Tuesday, all are expected to be in line to take the train for Shreveport, where McAleer will send his men through the spring practice.

Early Monday morning Danny Hoffman, the new outfielder secured from the New York club, and Pitcher William Graham, one of the youngsters reported to President Hedges at his office. Jimmy Williams has written that he will be here Tuesday morning.

Hoffman showed a surprising lot of enthusiasm over the coming season and said he could see it no other way than that the Browns were to be contenders for the pennant. He thought Chicago would be the hardest team in the American League to beat.

McAleer and his veterans will reach the city this evening after their 10 days at the French Lick Springs where they have been reducing flesh by baths and exercise. President Hedges had nothing to say on the Bobby Wallace situation, but hinted that he expected the great little shortstop to be on hand for the trip.

Hedges said he was unable to put over any more trades at the New York meeting last week and his team would begin the season as made up at the present time.

WILL RACE WITHOUT BETTING

Memphis Association to Determine If Sport Is Profitable.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 2.—Acting on the advice of veteran horsemen, who believe betting is not essential to racing, two Memphis racing associations will hold fall meetings to determine whether the sport can be conducted at a profit without pool selling. In each case the Tennessee law will be respected.

The Memphis Driving Club, which has leased the famous 2-minute course from the Memphis Trotting Association, will hold a short meeting following the Grand Circuit events at Lexington. The Tri-State Fair Association, which has leased Montgomery Park, has adopted plans for a mixed harness and running meeting at the fall fair. Ed Geers, the veteran driver, forecasts success. It is said by his friends that he has not bet on races for years.

DE SOTO ALLEYS GET TOURNEY

State Bowling Competition Will Begin April 19.

The De Soto Alleys were awarded the annual championship tournament of the Missouri Bowling Association, and April 19 was fixed as the opening date of the annual competition at a meeting held Sunday afternoon. Entries for the tournament will be received until midnight, April 12. All clubs in Missouri are eligible.

Railroads, M. A. Phillips, D. J. Sweeney and George Qualey; Printing, C. W. Turner; Hotels, Martin Kern and Charles Barker; Badges, M. A. Phillips, Jules Schmitt and Fred Graef.

The officers of the association are: S. L. Drake, St. Louis, president; C. W. Turner, Kansas City; George Tollman, St. Joseph, and F. P. Graves, Doe Run, vice-presidents; D. J. Sweeney, secretary, and Frank Witte, treasurer.

WILL RACE WITHOUT BETTING

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 2.—Horse-racing will be conducted on two tracks in Memphis to test possibilities of holding successful meetings without betting. At Montgomery Park, where Tennessee derbys and Montgomery handicaps were decided prior to legislation prohibiting poolselling, runners and harness horses will perform in connection with the Tri-State Fair.

At Billings' two-minute track, where world's records were shattered by pacers and trotters, a six-day meet will follow each meeting.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press. In addition it receives the service of the United Press and maintains a leased wire to its New York Bureau. Its news-gathering organization is unsurpassed in the United States. No other St. Louis newspaper approaches it.

LOMBARD IS PROVEN A FINISHED BOXER

CALGARY, Alberta, March 2.—Harry Lombard of Chicago proved himself a finished boxer by his bout here with Billy Lauder of Calgary. The fighting was the best ever witnessed in Western Canada and Lombard made many friends in Calgary.

The men fought Tuesday night and the battle went 15 rounds to a draw. The local fighter showed great improvement and mixed it more than usual. He landed oftener than the Chicagoan, and appeared to be playing for the body all through the first 10 rounds, but he could not get to Lombard's head, because of the clever blocking of the Chicagoan.

Once Lombard rushed his opponent to the ropes. Lauder was jarred, but his splendid condition helped him and he came back strong. The final bell found both men in a hot exchange, perfectly willing to take a few more hard blows. The contest was clean throughout, and the referee did not once have to warn the boxers for fouling.

Lauder said it was the hardest contest in his experience and praised Lombard for his gentlemanly conduct. Lombard, despite the fact that the higher altitude has given him several sleepless nights, is anxious for another contest with the Albertan.

SAYS SIX-DAY RACE WAS FAIR

Kansas City Promoter Answers Complaint of St. Louisan.

W. D. Scoville, manager of the 6-day walking race, which closed Saturday night in the Convention Hall in Kansas City, writes to the Post-Dispatch in answer to the complaint of H. S. Schneider of St. Louis, who withdrew from the contest early last week.

Scoville says the scores were kept by responsible men, under the personal supervision of Will A. (Cowboy) Smith of St. Louis, and that there were no favorites, as Schneider maintained. Scoville declares Schneider was exhausted after the first day's work and had to withdraw.

The St. Louis contestant may obtain a match with either W. A. Hogan of Auburn, N. Y., who won the race, or Capt. Player of Kansas City by putting up money.

The St. Mathew's team went down to defeat before the Thistles and the Innisfails could do no better than tie with the St. Teresas in the Athletic Park Soccer League contests Sunday afternoon, and as a result the St. Mathews still have a chance to beat the Innisfails out of the league championship.

Both games were surprises. In the first, both teams scored in the first half. In the second half the St. Mathews were penalized by Referee Daly. Worthington kicked the ball between the St. Mathews' goal posts on a penalty kick. Neither team was able to score afterward, and the contest went to the Thistles, 2 to 1.

Score Near End of Game.

At the end of the first half of the second game neither the Innisfails nor the St. Teresas had been able to score. T. McNamara scored for the Teresas on a nice pass from Peltier. The Innisfails tried hard, but it was not until the game was almost over that the Scotchmen won a goal, Tommy Murray scoring on a corner kick.

With a record of 15 games won, 3 tied and none lost, the St. Leos, champions of the Kulage Soccer League, brought their season to a fitting close by defeating a picked team from the Kulage Park League at Kulage Park Sunday afternoon, 2 to 0. Brannigan and Joe Mason scored the goals for the St. Leos.

As usual, "Butch" Ammons played a star game for the St. Leos. Brannigan's shooting for goal was a feature. On one occasion he drove the leather for the goal so hard that even after Wright had his hands on the pigskin, it twisted out of his grasp and went between the posts for a goal. SCHLENK LEADING BOWLING TOURNEY

"Heine" Schlenk of the Witter-Christens displayed rare form in the individual city tenpin championship match on the De Soto alleys Sunday afternoon. By averaging 222, Schlenk won five out of seven games from Jules Schmitt, captain of the Koenig-Kaisers, who averaged 198 4-7.

Schmitt had been pressing Schlenk for the lead in the tournament. As a result of his victory, Schlenk is in front with a safe margin. Schlenk went above the double century mark in every game Sunday.

In the second match of the afternoon Schmitt won five out of seven games from W. H. Lockwood of the Cabannes. Schmitt did not do as good work as he did in the first match. His average was 188 2-7.

Weherli shot in place of Billy Barron in the third match. Jerry Ameling, captain of the Witter-Christens, was his opponent. Ameling won the odd game. His average was 202, while Weherli's mark was 196. Weherli got three excellent games. In the opening contest he sent over 238 pins, 229 in the third and 225 in the fifth. The scores:

FAUST BRAND SPAGHETTI

People who know the difference between the different brands of Spaghetti invariably place Faust Brand as first in quality, nourishing properties, method of packing, and price. MAULL BROTHERS. ST. LOUIS, MO.

Pegged on the Bases

Eddie Plank waited until the eleventh hour to sign a contract with the Athletics. Just before the Athletics started South Edward talked with Mack and signed the papers. He was one of the first to board the train for New Orleans.

Rudderham will be one of the new umpires in the National League. Carpenter will leave the old organization and work in the Southern League.

Bobby Lowe, who took Bill Coughlin's place at third on the Tiger team a part of last season, has sent from his home in Sharon, Pa., his signed contract to manage the Grand Rapids team in the Central League. This team formerly was managed by John Ganzel.

The Union League, an outlaw organization, has invaded Washington. The league has been incorporated in Dover, Del., with a capitalization of $50,000, and with Wilmington agents as incorporators. The cities in the league are Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Washington, Baltimore, Reading, Paterson, Elizabeth and Wilmington, Newark having been dropped in favor of the capital because of the fear that Sunday baseball will be prohibited in the New Jersey city.

For exhibition games in Texas, Manager McGraw has put Pfyl, the St. Louis boy, on first base in the first team. Beecher, the Three-I League pitching recruit, will twirl for the second team.

George Browne the former Giant, has signed his contract with the Boston Nationals, and President George Dovey is authority for the statement that Dan McGann also has accepted terms.

President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn Superbas announces that Donovan's team will depart March 10 for Jacksonville. A number of the Dodgers who are in the "boiling-out" places of the West will not return to Brooklyn to make the trip.

Billy Lush, former Cleveland outfielder, has emphatically declared that he will not sign a Nashville contract. He says he may not play baseball at all this season.

READS LIKE A ROMANCE

Experience of Syracuse Man.

Mr. Wm. I. Brown of Syracuse, N. Y., says: "Four years ago I contracted a severe lung trouble.

Doctors in Fexton Hospital, Utica, gave me up—said no hope. I continued to fail until I only weighed 68 pounds. They sent me home from the hospital saying they could do nothing for me.

Later I saw Vinol advertised, and immediately began taking it. I improved after the first bottle, so continued its use for three months. Today I weigh 157 pounds and am well and healthy. I really believe Vinol saved my life."

The reason Vinol accomplishes such surprising results is because Vinol is a combination of the curative elements of two world famed tonics, cod liver oil and peptonate-of-iron, but shorn of all useless oil or grease.

Vinol is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate-of-iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil to upset the stomach and retard its work.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

We ask St. Louis people to try it on our offer to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON
A SAFE HOME TREATMENT

In S. S. S. nature has provided a certain, safe, home cure for Contagious Blood Poison. It is a medicine made entirely of roots and herbs of recognized blood-purifying value, and is the one medicine which is able to get down to the root of the trouble and remove every particle of the virus, and at the same time benefit and build up the system and general health. No harmful effects ever follow its use, as is so often the case when strong mineral medicines are used. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the disease begins to improve, and when the remedy has thoroughly purified the blood and driven out every trace of the poison, no signs of the trouble are ever seen again. The general manifestations of Contagious Blood Poison such as falling hair, copper-colored spots, ulcerated mouth and throat, sores and ulcers, etc., are merely symptoms of the poisoned condition of the blood, and in most cases respond quickly to local treatment, while S. S. S. is doing the necessary work of cleansing the blood. Our "Home Treatment" book is of great assistance along this line. It is a complete guide for treating the trouble, containing instructions for the different stages of the disease, and also valuable suggestions about the local treatment, that will be most helpful in effecting a cure. We will be glad to send a copy of this book, free of charge, to any who desire it, and if special medical advice is wanted our physicians will take pleasure in supplying it without cost to the patient. If you are suffering with Contagious Blood Poison you can cure yourself in the privacy of your own home by the use of S. S. S., an absolutely safe remedy. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

SEVEN PLOTTERS HANGED, THROWER OF BOMB FREED

Suspects Hanged in St. Petersburg—Vienna Court Acquits Girl Who Confessed.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2.—Seven Terrorists, including a woman and two girls of 18 and 19 years, respectively, were hanged at daybreak Sunday for complicity in a plot to kill Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch and Minister of Justice Chtcheglovitoff, while in Vienna. Miss Wanda Dobrodzicka, the young sister of the famous painter, was acquitted of an attempt to assassinate the Governor of Warsaw, although she admitted in court that she threw a bomb at his carriage and expected either to be blown to pieces herself or hanged by the police.

The plot against the Grand Duke Nicholas and the Minister of Justice was discovered in the course of wholesale raids on the homes of suspected Reds. The seven persons hanged Sunday were supposed to have aided the plotters in various ways. No actual attempt on the lives of the two men was made.

Admitted She Threw Bomb.

In the case of Miss Dobrodzicka, there was no doubt of an attempted assassination. She admitted it in court, explaining that as a daughter of Poland she felt it her duty to aid in freeing her people "from the yoke of Russian absolutism."

Several futile attempts had been made against the life of Skallon, Governor of Warsaw, who had used all his efforts against the organization. Wanda and a friend, whose name she has not revealed, accepted an assignment to destroy him.

The plot was carefully laid. To induce the Governor to drive through the streets, a practice he particularly detested, a member of the organization disguised himself in the uniform of a Russian officer, went to the Austrian Vice-Consul's house and deliberately insulted that diplomat. As was expected, the Governor was forced to visit the insulted representative of a foreign country and offer his apologies.

Failed to Explode.

On the afternoon of Aug. 17, 1906, Wanda, then 20 years old, stood on the balcony, a bomb concealed in the folds of her skirt and her woman friend in an adjoining window. The carriage passed on the way to the consulate under Wanda's eyes. When it returned she threw her missile, aiming at the horses. No explosion followed.

Seizing a second bomb, Wanda hurled it full at the carriage. Smoke and fire appeared when the missile struck, but there was no loud report and the carriage proceeded on its way. There had been a mistake. The deadly bombs had been replaced by harmless ones, manufactured to deceive the police. She was arrsted and tried.

Although the young woman's attempt at assassination took place in Russia, under the law she had to be tried in Austria.

1907 GREATEST OF ALL YEARS

In the History of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FOUR STARTLING FACTS!

Fact 1—The Post-Dispatch the only St. Louis newspaper showing a Gain in Daily Circulation.

Fact 2—The Post-Dispatch the only St. Louis newspaper showing a Gain in Sunday Circulation.

THE TOTAL FIGURES.

Daily Circulation (av. per day)..161,477
Sunday Circulation (av. per day)..252,457
Columns of Advertising (total, less cheap legal)............ 35,486
Want Advertising (total—none free) 641,719

THE NET GAINS,

1907 over 1906 were
6,540 in Daily Circulation,
9,961 in Sunday Circulation,
102 in Columns of Advertising,
12,465 in Want Advertisements.

NOTWITHSTANDING,

First—the "panic" and the advent of another evening newspaper in the Post-Dispatch's field;

Second—That all other St. Louis newspapers, without exception, showed losses, both in circulation and advertising, compared with 1906.

FAR IN THE LEAD!

During 1907 the Post-Dispatch carried
12,231 more columns of advertising than the Globe-Democrat;
18,331 more columns of advertising than the Republic;
210,758 more "Want" advertisements than the Globe-Democrat;
287,790 more "Want" advertisements than the Republic.

SUNDAY SUPREMACY.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch, on 47 Sundays out of the 52 in 1907 carried a greater volume of paid advertising than the Globe-Democrat, which was for a quarter of a century prior to 1906, the leader in the Sunday field.

THE REASONS.

The sales of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs every day in the year, are greater than the sales of all the other St. Louis morning and evening papers, COMBINED, in the same territory.

THE TWO DISTINCTIVE MERITS

Which have brought the Post-Dispatch its continuing and ever-increasing success are unswerving fidelity to the people and adequate returns to advertisers.

N. Y. STOCKS SELL LOWER AT OPENING

St. Paul, Great Northern and Atchison Are the Heaviest Losers.

NEW YORK, March 2, 10 a. m.—Following the course it pursued in the closing hours of Saturday's session the market this morning opened with recessions in almost the entire list. Only one rail stock—Northern Pacific—opened higher than its close, but the gain was so small that it was of no consequence.

St. Paul and Great Northern slumped ¾ in their initial transactions, and Atchison was ⅝ off. Other rail issues were from ⅛ to ¼ lower.

There were very few changes in the first half hour's trading, prices, if anything, became a trifle firmer.

With the exception of Anaconda and Steel preferred, which were higher, all the industrials opened lower. The weakness in this division was less pronounced than in the rails. Amalgamated and Smelting showed slight early advances, but trading in all the industrials was dull. Southern Pacific and National Lead opened at parity. Reading was the only issue to show activity, but at the end of half an hour it had scarcely changed from its opening quotation.

General sluggishness marked the early trading, and price movements were in consequence confined to a narrow range.

NEW YORK, March 2, 12:30 p. m.—Trading during the forenoon hours continued dull and uninteresting. The early weakness, however, had disappeared by noon, and material advances were made in the entire list.

The chief item of interest on the "street" was the cut in the common stock dividend of American Smelting from 2 per cent to 1 per cent quarterly. The dividend on the preferred remains unchanged. All this was anticipated, and neither the Copper stocks nor the general list was affected thereby.

National Lead was the largest gainer of the forenoon session, with an advance of 1¾ points from the opening.

In common with the other rail stocks, the Gould properties made large fractional gains.

IMPROVED TONE IS SHOWN IN RAILWAYS PFD

Volume of Business Light and Limited to Traction Stocks.

A slightly improved tone in United Railways preferred marked trading at the first session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange Monday. The common was unchanged at 22 and there were no transactions in the 4's. Business was again light, the traction stocks, as usual monopolizing attention. Only two quotations were established outside of United Railways, and they were unimportant.

FINANCIAL ITEMS

Bank clearings still denote a much smaller volume of payments through the banks than in either of the last two years, total bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States being $1,720,891,995, a decrease of 26.1 per cent, compared with the corresponding week a year ago. The week includes only five days in both years. There is still a large loss at New York, Baltimore, Pittsburg and San Francisco; also a considerable decrease at Philadelphia, Boston, Cincinnati, Cleveland and New Orleans, but at most Western points the loss is small. Average daily bank exchanges for the month to date and the three preceding months are compared below for three years:

	1908.	1907.	1906.
Feb.	$341,870,000	$487,061,000	$523,568,000
Jan.	392,811,000	526,789,000	584,577,000
Dec.	334,660,000	521,832,000	534,574,000
Nov.	357,392,000	517,406,000	502,484,000

Business in the iron and steel industry has made a little further gain and it is probable that results for February will show the same gain over January that that month did over December. It is a slow improvement, but some progress is seen and the inquiries are now especially numerous. New business this week was of substantial proportions in steel rails, the Great Northern placing the largest tonnage, but there were several smaller orders that brought the aggregate up to a satisfactory volume. As the season advances there is more interest in structural shapes, although orders on hand now do not provide activity for more than about one-third the capacity of fabricating mills. The best pending business in this department is in shapes for railway bridges. When plans are finished for several contemplated vessels, the demand for plates will be stimulated, but that division cannot hope for much business from car shops while so many freight cars are reported idle. Pig iron moves very slowly, yet in this, as in other divisions of the industry, there is no disposition to stimulate activity by concessions in prices.

TICKER TALK

Directors of the American Smelting and Refining Co. today declared a 1 per cent quarterly dividend on the common stock, and the regular dividend on the preferred.

BOSTON, March 2.—A receiver was today appointed for the street railway firm of James F. Shaw & Co. Debts of the company amount to about $750,000.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

Some sections of the Southwest seem to be absolutely independent of banks at reserve centers at the present time. Recent statements indicate a plethora of funds at various points and this, of course, has created a wide-open market for handlers of outside mercantile bills. February was a most active month in this respect and March promises to also be of considerable importance.

Quotations for time funds were 5½ to 6½ per cent today, but the most of the business was handled at straight 6 per cent for most maturities.

NATIONAL STOCK YARDS, Ill., March 2.—Estimated receipts today compare with a week and a year ago, as follows:

	Today.	Week ago.	Year ago.
Cattle	2,500	2,900	3,300
Hogs	5,000	9,300	5,300

NATIVE CATTLE—A few good steers were included in the 1700 natives received today, and they sold at $5.50, but most of the moderate supply of steers consisted of the medium and pretty fair kinds that brought from $4.75@5.25, prices that were steady to 10c higher than the close last week.

The proportion of butcher cattle was fairly large, and embraced a couple of loads of Panhandle heifers, that had been corn-fed in a Missouri feed lot that sold up to $5.15, as well as the usual number of common and fair grades. Best kinds sold readily at full steady values, but common grades were rather slow sale.

Some pretty good cows sold up to $4.50, and all classes sold actively at steady values. The supply of bulls and calves sold at steady values, good veal calves selling up to $7.

The supply of stockers and feeders was light, and trade was quiet. Few outsiders were here today, and dealers are pretty well stocked up just at present.

HOGS—The supply of hogs was not near as large as has been the case on Monday for the past two months and real good hogs were very scarce. The market opened fairly active and prices ruled 5c to 10c higher than on Saturday, the top reaching $4.70 for the first time in several weeks and the bulk of the good hogs sold from $4.57½ to $4.65.

On the early market most of the buying was done by the shippers and city butchers as the packers were trying to get their hogs at steady prices. Towards noon the market weakened and about all of the advance was lost before the close. Good lights weighing 120 to 155 pounds sold up to $4.60 and pigs from $4@4.25, but the trashy ones were no better than last week.

HORSE AND MULE TRADE.

The inauguration of the horse trade today was active. Liberal receipts and a good demand transpired with all classes of horses moving on a steady basis. The activity of Eastern buyers has improved prices on the large offerings during the last week or so. Combined receipts for the day figured around 600 head.

Arrivals of mules moderate and but little tendency is manifest in the trade toward expansion. Dealers do not wish to augment their present holdings with many fresh offerings and this indifference relieves the commission department of its vitality. About 500 head arrived during the day.

Failures Last Week.

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Commercial failures this week in the United States, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., are 324, against 394 last week, 336 the preceding week and 224 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 32, against 36 last week, 38 the preceding week and 17 last year. Of failures this week in the United States, 123 were in the East, 95 South, 77 West and 33 in the Pacific States, and 128 report liabilities of $5000 or more, against 144 last week. Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for February are $23,581,959, against $8,481,801 for the same period the previous year.

SHARP RECESSIONS IN WHEAT PRICES

Saturday's Long Buyers Unload Extensively, Causing Generally Weak Tones.

VERY NERVOUS AT TIMES

Corn Ruled Dull and Steady, With Oats Inactive—Cash Markets Lower.

The lively and extensive trading in local wheat which was prevalent in last week's markets existed again Monday and price movements were again very nervous, but values ranged at sharply lower levels and closed ⅞c to 1⅜c lower for the day.

World's shipments of wheat were 11,894,000 bu, against 11,520,000 bu last week and 11,920,000 bu a year ago. Wheat and flour on ocean passage amounts to 54,409,000 bu, against 54,624,000 bu last week and 46,616,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply of wheat decreased 1,562,000 bu and now amounts to 42,906,000 bu, against an increase of 1,371,000 bu, with 44,884,000 bu in sight at the same time last year. Liverpool stocks of wheat increased 74,000 bu for the week.

The opening was characterized by weakness under a general realizing movement among the traders, who bought so freely in Saturday's market. These operators unloaded quite a large amount of wheat early, they being disappointed at the tame response at Liverpool, which closed only ¼d to ½d higher, and at the good-sized world's shipments and further liberal increase in afloat stocks. The tone was very nervous, however, and a full recovery and fractional advances were soon made under a good general commission house demand which was based on the small receipts in the Northwest and the very bullish visible supply statement. The crowd appeared to be mostly bearish, however, attention being paid to the large long interest that is still in the market and the very favorable crop conditions in practically all parts of the wheat belt. Snow's report making the farm reserves of wheat 23.3 per cent of the crop, or 138,000,000 bu, against 24.5, or 191,000,000 bu last year, was bearishly construed considering the present high level of prices, and there being quite a large quantity of wheat on sale, prices sold down steadily, though the decline was temporarily interrupted by fractional rallies several times. Toward noon pronounced dullness set in and price movements then were slow at the low levels.

May wheat opened ¼c lower at $1.00⅝, was bid for at $1.00⅞, declined to $1.00⅜, fluctuated between $1.00⅜ and $1.00⅝, advanced to $1.01⅛, declined to $1.00¼, fluctuated between $1.00⅜ and $1.00⅝, and was offered down to 99⅞c. July wheat opened ⅛@⅝c lower at 90½@⅝c, advanced to 90⅞c, declined to 90⅛c, advanced to 91⅛c, declined to 90⅞c fluctuated between 90⅞c and 91⅛c, and declined to 90⅛c.

There was a fair cash demand at Minneapolis, with No. 1 Northern 2⅛c over May option and No. 2 ⅛c over. Minneapolis stocks decreased 150,000 bu for two days. Minneapolis cars were 352, against 712 last year, Duluth 28, against 111 last year, and Winnipeg 218, against 216 last year.

The late trading was very dull though there was a feeble spurt of activity just before the close. The manner in which the cash markets at most points dragged along, millers and shippers keeping out of the market, and liberal country acceptances throughout the West, which would indicate a larger movement for the near future, restricted the demand, though the pressure was also very light. The break brought out practically no export demand, and the close at this market was steady and quiet.

May wheat sold at $1, was bid for at 100⅛c, was offered down to 99⅝@99¾c, recovered to 100@100⅛c and declined to 99⅝c, closing at 99⅝c bid. July wheat fluctuated between 90⅛c and 90⅝c during the latter part of the session, and closed at 90⅛c sellers.

The local cash market on wheat was very quiet, the demand slow and prices ranged lower.

Primary receipts of wheat were 637,818 bu, with shipments of 282,328 bu, and local receipts were 44,000 bu, with shipments of 63,190 bu.

Clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 357,000 bu.

The future market on corn was unusually dull, transactions being confined to small lots, and the price range being narrow. Cables on corn closed ⅝d lower, which caused some slight easiness at the start, being assisted by prospects of larger receipts. The weather is still unsettled, however, and Snow's crop report rather favored the bulls. The statistical news on corn was about evenly divided, and very few traders showed a disposition to get into the market, prices after moving within a narrow range, closing unchanged to ⅛c higher for the day.

World's shipments of corn were 3,299,000 bu, against 2,811,000 bu last week and 3,559,000 bu a year ago. Corn on ocean passage amounts to 8,895,000 bu, against 8,686,000 bu last week and 11,026,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply of corn decreased 259,000 bu and now amounts to 8,954,000 bu, against an increase of 1,235,000 bu, with 11,102,000 bu in sight at the same time last year.

Snow makes the farm reserves of corn 37 per cent of the crop or 950,000,000 bu, against 41.2 per cent or 1,210,000,000 bu last year.

The cash corn market was very dull and was weak.

Primary receipts of corn were 445,050 bu, with shipments of 277,274 bu, and local receipts were 64,900 bu, with shipments of 75,610 bu.

Seaboard clearances of corn for the day were 489,000 bu.

There was no market on oats futures, the only quotation being an offer of May, unchanged at 50½c. Cash oats were lull and weak. The visible supply of oats decreased 266,000 bu and now amounts to 8,629,000 bu. Oats clearances were 2000 bu.

Primary receipts of oats were 696,859 bu, with shipments of 478,148 bu, and local receipts were 116,800 bu, with shipments of 61,160 bu.

FLOUR—Receipts were 9180 bbls; shipments, 9990 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, patents, $4.65@4.90; straight, $4.40@4.50; extra medium grades, in jute, $3.40@3.75; hard jute sacks, patent, $4.50@4.80; straight $4.20@4.40; clears, $3.75@4; low grade $3.10@3.35; spring patents, $5@5.25 in jute.

No Parrot-Like Repetitions

Here—no Spring Suitings like those of last Spring (because our determined clearance sales quickly wiped out our former seasonable stocks)—no patterns that were to be seen anywhere last year, for this season's stock exhibits our gathering of 6 months' careful scrutiny of the best that the best importers showed us and the pick of that which our special London Buyer sent us.

Why not let us show you some of our new things?

DUBLIN JEWEL THIEF IS SAFE FROM ARREST

King Edward Has Quietly Stopped Pursuit to Avoid Worse Scandal.

SAFE WAS EASY TO ROB.

Police Found Evidence That Crown and Castle Wanted It Covered Up.

Special Correspondence of the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

DUBLIN, Ireland, Feb. 22.—The robbery of the regalia of the Order of St. Patrick from the office of the Ulster King at Arms in Dublin Castle remains unsolved. Yet the report of the evidence taken before the special commission directed to inquire into the circumstances of their disappearance makes evident the fact that they were not stolen long before is a mystery.

These jewels, consisting of collars and stars worn by the knights at the initiating of new members into the order, were worth nearly $300,000. They included one collar and star worn by the grand master, which accounts for nearly half that sum.

The principal jewels were kept in a safe in the public room of the office of arms, a room to which anybody calling at the office had access. The less valuable ones were kept in a strong room adjoining the public room.

Vicars Kept Both Keys.

There were two keys to the safe, both kept by Sir Arthur Vicars. To the strong room there were several keys; nearly every official in the office had one. The safe was made to be placed in the strong room, but when it was delivered at the office it was found to be too large to pass through the door, so it was left in the public room.

When King Edward was expected here early last July to install Lord Castletown as a Knight of St. Patrick, Sir Arthur Vicars, Ulster King of Arms and custodian of the jewels, thought it would be well to have the jewels out, to see if they were all right. He gave the safe key to Stivey, the office messenger, who had been in the place 30 years and whose integrity is not questioned, to get them for him. Stivey went to the safe, but could not open it. He had been trying for a minute or two when Vicars entered.

"Why, the safe is already unlocked!" he exclaimed as he pulled the handle and the door came open. He took out the cases and found that the jewels had vanished.

Evidence of Greater Scandal.

When the police ransacked the office they are said to have found certain things which have not been described, which, in conjunction with other discoveries, led to the conclusion that the office had been used at no distant date for orgies.

The moment the authorities heard of this they became apprehensive. The police pursued their inquiries further, and their reports to the authorities made it plain that if the investigation were persisted in and if the matter ever came into court the names of persons of high title might become involved, not in the loss of the jewels, but in the underlying scandal.

In Dublin today they will tell you in official circles that if the jewel mystery was probed to its foundations it would reveal the doings of a coterie of abnormally vicious men, highly placed both in England and Ireland, which would throw the unspeakable excesses of Count Lynar's villa at Potsdam completely into the shade. So in the interests of public morals the pursuit of the jewel thief was dropped.

That was precisely what the jewel thief had counted upon.

DUBLIN JEWEL THIEF IS SAFE FROM ARREST

King Edward Has Quietly Stopped Pursuit to Avoid Worse Scandal.

SAFE WAS EASY TO ROB.

Special Correspondence of the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

DUBLIN, Ireland, Feb. 22.—The robbery of the regalia of the Order of St. Patrick from the office of the Ulster King at Arms in Dublin Castle remains unsolved. Yet the report of the evidence taken before the special commission directed to inquire into the circumstances of their disappearance makes evident the fact that they were not stolen long before is a mystery.

These jewels, consisting of collars and stars worn by the knights at the initiating of new members into the order, were worth nearly $300,000. They included one collar and star worn by the grand master, which accounts for nearly half that sum.

The principal jewels were kept in a safe in the public room of the office of arms, a room to which anybody calling at the office had access. The less valuable ones were kept in a strong room adjoining the public room.

Vicars Kept Both Keys.

There were two keys to the safe, both kept by Sir Arthur Vicars. To the strong room there were several keys; nearly every official in the office had one. The safe was made to be placed in the strong room, but when it was delivered at the office it was found to be too large to pass through the door, so it was left in the public room.

When King Edward was expected here early last July to install Lord Castletown as a Knight of St. Patrick, Sir Arthur Vicars, Ulster King of Arms and custodian of the jewels, thought it would be well to have the jewels out, to see if they were all right. He gave the safe key to Stivey, the office messenger, who had been in the place 30 years and whose integrity is not questioned, to get them for him. Stivey went to the safe, but could not open it. He had been trying for a minute or two when Vicars entered.

"Why, the safe is already unlocked!" he exclaimed as he pulled the handle and the door came open. He took out the cases and found that the jewels had vanished.

Evidence of Greater Scandal.

When the police ransacked the office they are said to have found certain things which have not been described, which, in conjunction with other discoveries, led to the conclusion that the office had been used at no distant date for orgies.

The moment the authorities heard of this they became apprehensive. The police pursued their inquiries further, and their reports to the authorities made it plain that if the investigation were persisted in and if the matter ever came into court the names of persons of high title might become involved, not in the loss of the jewels, but in the underlying scandal.

In Dublin today they will tell you in official circles that if the jewel mystery was probed to its foundations it would reveal the doings of a coterie of abnormally vicious men, highly placed both in England and Ireland, which would throw the unspeakable excesses of Count Lynar's villa at Potsdam completely into the shade. So in the interests of public morals the pursuit of the jewel thief was dropped.

That was precisely what the jewel thief had counted upon.

BRIDE SITS ALL NIGHT IN JAIL TO CHEER HUSBAND

Henry Furlong, a St. Charles singer and actor, is charged in a warrant issued Monday at Alton with abducting 14-year-old Ethel Loftis. Henry Loftis, the girl's brother, did not know, when he swore out the warrant, that Furlong and the girl had been married in St. Charles. He said when told of it that he would prosecute Furlong anyhow, and try to annul the wedding.

Sheriff Hines of St. Charles received a telegram Sunday night, asking that he arrest Furlong, and he did so. The young bride insisted on accompanying her husband to Jail, and she spent the night in the Sheriff's office in order to be near him.

Furlong says he and the girl told her sister they were to be married, and that Ethel went with him of her own accord.

Awoke Justice in Night.

Furlong and his youthful sweetheart awoke Justice Bruns in St. Charles Saturday to have him marry them. The girl wore long skirts, and as she is large for her age, she had no trouble obtaining a license. She gave her age as 18, and Furlong gave his as 23, although he looks older. After the ceremony the couple went to the home of Mrs. Stephen Furlong, the bridegroom's mother, in St. Charles.

Miss Loftis first saw Furlong when he was doing a vaudeville "turn" in Alton, and they became fast friends. Her home is at Belleville, two miles northwest of Alton.

Girl Chum Aids Flight.

Furlong took 11-year-old Viola Henry of St. Charles to Alton Friday, and they visited the Loftis home. When they started away Miss Ethel told her father she would go as far with them as the home of Webb Johndrow, her uncle, a mile away. She did not return.

Deputy Sheriff Crowe left Alton Saturday with warrants for both Furlong and the girl.

ATTACK ON SHAH LEADS TO MANY SHOOTING AFFRAYS

Emperor's Gaurd Runs Wild in the Streets of Persian Capital—Hospitals Get Victims.

TEHERAN, March 2.—The people here are greatly excited over the bomb explosion and attempt on the life of the Shah.

The Shah's guard practically ran wild in the streets after the attempt, shooting indiscriminately.

There are now 42 persons in the hospitals as the result of the explosion and the shooting by the soldiers.

MERCHANTS VISIT THE WHITE HOUSE

Out-of-town merchants coming to St. Louis are cordially invited to visit the White House, on Washington avenue, at Seventeenth street, where, on the hour and half hour, from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., courteous guides will show them through the largest, handsomest and best equipped building in the world used for the distribution of shoes.

The White House automobile will call for visiting merchants anywhere in the business district of the city, upon telephone request.

FINDER SEEKS OWNER OF MONEY AND JEWELED RINGS

Advertises to Bring Claimant for Property Left on Car.

BAG—Found, a varsity bag, containing money and jewelry; also a parcel, Feb. 28, on Market car; owner can have same by identifying. 4159A McRee.

This advertisement appeared in the Lost and Found column of the Post-Dispatch Sunday. The owner did not call for the articles so the woman who found them brought them Monday to the Lost and Found Bureau of the Post-Dispatch and registered them. The owner can get them by calling there and identifying them.

The articles were evidently lost by a well-to-do woman of refinement. Among the articles are a novel by Sir Walter Scott, two pairs of long gloves, several back combs and hair pins, a gold bracelet, a collection of fine jeweled rings and a gold meshed purse containing money.

Glennon Calls Priest Martyr.

Archbishop Glennon, in a sermon in the New Cathedral Chapel, declared the recent tragedy in Denver of which a Catholic priest was the victim to have been a tribute to Christianity. No sacrifice is altogether lost, he said, and he thought the assassination of Father Heinrichs by an anarchist but an additional link to the long chain that binds humanity to the cross.

Railroad Business Picking Up.

OMAHA, Neb., March 2.—Railroad business is picking up in Nebraska, according to the car reports compiled by the Nebraska State Railway Commission. For the last week reports show an increase of about 50 per cent.
